POLITICS is troublesome; each "leading candidate" is disturbed and threatened by other leading candidates.

McAdoo has most votes. "Al" Smith's friends say they have enough to prevent McAdoo's nomination, and that they will do.

McADOO SAYS that if they do, he will throw his votes to Glass, that Southern dark horse.

Ralston emerges from the shadow of dignity to say that he is no enemy of the rich, would not oppress wealth. On the other hand he is the loving friend of the poor man. Poverty may trust him; wealth need not fear him. What can you ask more than that?

"AL" SMITH, Tammany Hall candidate, and at present actual leader of Tammany Hall, is disturbed by rows and riots inside of that ancient organization.

District Leader Curry, backer of "Al" Smith, says nobody must be made leader of Tammany that could be eligible to the Ku Klux Klan.

Another district leader says Leader Curry seeks to stir up the "religious question."

F. D. ROOSEVELT, "Al" Smith's manager, impolitely described by his cousin, Theodore Roosevelt, the second, as a "Maverick" Roosevelt, lacking the family brand, brings news that the West is "rapidly returning to 'Al' Smith as a real leader." That will interest many Democrats in the West.

MEANWHILE Coolidge has his nomination killed, dressed and hung up in cold storage. His only trouble is the selection of a Vice-President.

W. J. Bryan peeps from the beautiful pines, flowers and cocoanut trees in Florida, to remark that "Coolidge would like to take a radical Vice-President, because that would get him votes."

But Coolidge is mortal, and "Wall Street," according to Mr. Bryan, won't run the risk of letting Coolidge nominate any radical Vice-President for fear he might become a real President.

REBECCA WEST, an intelligent young English writer, back in London, tells of a judge in the Middle West "who danced the tango with passion rarely exhibited in public places. And afterward gave me a wonderful cocktail made of a brand of white fire out of a silver flask the size of the Ascot cup."

At his invitation she sat on the bench with him next day and saw him fine a colored lady, seventy-five years old, $50 for carrying a pint bottle of moonshine whiskey. She presents that as a sample of our "respect for law."

IT SURPRISES Miss West to know that Chicago, "one-third the size of London, has three hundred murders a year." Everywhere in the United States there are too many murders. Chicago is busy with the murder

METHODIST DANCE BAN LIFTED

Age-Old Restrictions on Amusements Abolished by Springfield Convention

Springfield, May 27.—The Methodist ban upon amusements, except those "which cannot be used in the name of the Lord Jesus," was lifted by a five to one vote of the Methodist Episcopal General Conference today.

A minority report forbidding theatre attendance on Sundays and specifying dancing and immoral theatre performances was tabled by 429 to 295.

There was no debate. Dr. George Elliott of Detroit presented the majority report of a standing committee on the state of the church, and W. M. Short of Fort Worth, Tex., spoke for the minority report.

The adoption of the former removed restrictions against dancing, games of chance and all theatre attendance, in force since the church's inception.

"We are not beating a retreat. We are going forward," Dr. Elliott said. "Religion must appeal to the conscience, and it is the conscience of men that must be trusted.

"This new law goes back to Wesley and Paul and Jesus Christ, and goes forward to a time when law shall be no more because written in the hearts of men."

Preachers will now stand in their pulpits not with a policeman's club, but with the Shepherd's Crook in their hands. They will go along on a new program for the saving of souls.

"Sunday theatres are working a great hardship on the churches," Mr. Short said. "Dancing is one of the great causes of divorce. People will say that the Methodist Church has retreated if the minority report is not adopted."

RUBE MARQUARD SLIGHTLY BETTER

Cincinnati, O., May 27.—"Rube" Marquard, pitcher of the Boston Braves, who is ill in a hospital here, was reported to be slightly improved today. Marquard developed a case of acute indigestion following his recent operation for appendicitis and was in a grave condition over Saturday and Sunday. A good night's rest Monday, however, imparted more strength and hospital physicians said he was a little better today.

BOY SLAYER FACES COURT UNDER GUARD

At left, Victor MacDonald, held as material witness in one cell, while his brother, Roland, on right, who has confessed the slaying, is held in another. At top, Louise Gerrish, the nineteen-year-old school teacher, victim.

Ellsworth, Me., May 27.—Roland McDonald, fifteen-year-old confessed slayer of pretty nineteen-year-old Louise Gerrish, Amherst school teacher, showed more interest in his meals today than in his arraignment on charges of murder and robbery.

McDonald slept peacefully throughout the night and ate a hearty breakfast. By 11 o'clock today he was asking what time dinner would be ready.

Outside the jail autoists from Winter Harbor and other towns gathered in such numbers that the armed guard at the jail was increased.

Feeling here is running high and officials are taking every precaution to prevent any possible kidnaping of the prisoner by incensed townsmen of the murdered girl.

GUARDED IN COURT.

McDonald was heavily guarded when he was taken from the jail to the court house for arraignment. Long before his arrival every seat in the court room was filled and a great crowd massed at the entrance to get a glimpse of the young slayer.

Following a formal reading of the charges the court ordered McDonald held without bonds for the October term of the Hancock Grand Jury. His brother, Victor McDonald, is held as a material witness.

McDonald showed the same lack of emotion during his arraignment as he did during his calm recital of the atrocious crime to the police. He was brought from the jail to court

Edison Storage Batteries Help Told "Business Interests" Come First

When 107 employes of the Edison Storage Battery plant at West Orange, N. J., a part of the Edison interests, were summarily dismissed from the service of the company, an amazing note accompanied each dismissal.

The note, signed by the general manager of the storage battery company, set forth that the men were dismissed because business was in a chaotic condition, brought about by the investigations being conducted in Washington, the passage of the bonus and failure of Congress to adopt the Mellon tax reduction plan.

There are 1,180 men employed in the plant. When the 107 men dismissed received their weekly pay envelopes, each envelope contained a card on which the following was printed:

SORE OVER BONUS.

"To everyone whom we must let go:

"We find it necessary to reduce production on account of bad business conditions which I believe are brought about by:

"1—Partisan political investigations at Washington.

"2—Passage of the Soldiers' Bonus Bill.

COAKLEY'S TRIAL IS DELAYED

Judge Orders Session Halted While Mrs. Curtis, Wetmore's Sister, Is Sent For

The trial of Daniel H. Coakley and William J. Corcoran in East Cambridge Superior Court on conspiracy charges, was delayed today by the non-appearance of a witness.

The witness was Mrs. Nellie Wetmore Curtis of Wessex road, Newton Centre, sister of Bruce Wetmore, whose divorce action several years ago was the subject of her testimony.

Corcoran Attorney David Stoneman testified, set $150,000 as the price for which Wetmore could settle charges that Corcoran alleged were pending against him in connection with the divorce.

Coakley declared today that he wished further to cross-examine Mrs. Curtis. Judge Whiting stated he had expected Mrs. Curtis to be in court. District Attorney Arthur K. Reading, however, said that had not been his understanding.

LEVENSON IN COURT

Court attaches scurried around in a hunt for Mrs. Curtis. The district attorney offered to send a taxicab for her.

For nearly two hours the trial was held up. Then, when she still had not been found, Judge Whiting declared court adjourned for the rest of the forenoon session.

The appearance of Harry E. Levenson in court today created a stir. He arrived while Coakley was cross-examining John P. Manning, clerk of Suffolk Superior Court, relative to court records in the Wetmore case.

Manning was the first witness of the day.

Levenson walked toward the witness stand when he entered. Spectators and principals evinced a sudden interest. But Levenson took a seat in one of the court officer's chairs.

Manning testified that the records related to the case of Wetmore and

New York, May 27.—The Pancho Villa-Frankie Ash flyweight title match which was to have been held in the Brooklyn Stadium of the Nostrand A. C., tonight, was enjoined today by Supreme Court Justice Benedict.

The match was indefinitely postponed.

The injunction was granted on application of a number of residents and property owners in the vicinity of the recently built arena, whose petition alleged the place to be a common nuisance.

Attorneys for the promoters earlier in the day lost a motion to have the injunction proceedings put over until next Monday.

Chicago, May 27.—Arrest of a man known as George Johnson—the name signed to the ransom letter received by Jacob Franks, demanding $10,000 for the return of his son, Robert, 13—driving a gray automobile, was the latest development in the investigation today of the kidnapping and death of the boy.

He is known as Johnson, although his name is Adolph Papritz. He said he was not surprised by his arrest.

Daring Gunmen Stage Daylight Holdup on Bridge: Owner of Car Quizzed

Four auto bandits, staging a bold daylight holdup in Main street, Cambridge, today, snatched $15,000 from Herbert Hume, messenger, employed by the Guaranty Trust Company of Central square, Cambridge.

The daring bandits, riding in a limousine, forced a light sedan driven by Hume, against the curbing at the Cambridge end of the West Boston Bridge.

LEVENSON'S ENTRANCE IN COURT CAUSES STIR AT COAKLEY TRIAL

SITS NEAR WITNESS STAND

John Doe, and were first presented to the Grand Jury in 1920 and concluded in 1922.

He said the records showed no indictment against Wetmore.

On cross-examination Coakley examined the complaint in the Wetmore case which Manning produced and which showed a charge of conspiracy.

From the back of it Coakley read the names of several who testified before the Grand Jury as follows:

Effie Florence Wetmore, Myrtle Vye, Eugene S. Vinal, H. A. Savage, and T. E. O'Neil, the last of whom gave his address as District Attorney's office.

Manning then stated that the complaint bore the words: "No bill to clear records—R. Robinson, assistant district attorney."

Asked by Coakley if this meant that the district attorney made that entry in order to clean up the records, Manning said it meant the Grand Jury had found no bill. Coakley declared he wished to show that the case was dead a long time before 1922, but Manning produced records which showed that one witness was paid in June, 1922.

LEVENSON ENTERS

As Manning finished his testimony Harry E. Levenson entered the courtroom accompanied by a court officer. He walked over to the witness stand but halted and sat down in one of the court officers' chairs.

There was a stir among the spectators and the principals in the case, and Coakley leaped to his feet and declared he expected to have a chance today to re-examine the witnesses of yesterday, Mrs. Nellie W. Curtis, Bruce Wetmore, her brother, and David Stoneman, his attorney.

District Attorney Reading declared he did not know these witnesses were to come back today, but Judge Whiting asserted he had asked Mrs. Curtis to be present at the opening of court.

There was a discussion and Reading offered to get Mrs. Curtis in a taxicab if necessary. There was a recess until the matter could be adjusted.

SERVICES SATISFACTORY.

"We are forced to curtail production, which means that we must let you and 106 other men go, not because your services have been unsatisfactory, but because of business conditions over which we have no control.

"(Signed)
"G. E. SPRINGFELLOW, General Manager."

When these notices were received by the men the effect was instantaneous. On every hand the workers, not only the ones who had been dismissed, but those who still retain their places, were vigorous in declaring that it was nothing except a brazen attempt to carry on political propaganda under a flimsy guise.

Mr. Springfellow, when first interviewed by reporters, declared that he and he alone was responsible for the notices going into the envelopes.

HIGHER UPS BLAMED.

After a few hours he is alleged to have changed his position, declaring that others were responsible for the printing of the cards but that he simply saw to it that they were placed in the workers' envelopes.

It became noised about that several thousand copies of the notices were to be made easily available for the workers still on the company's payroll for the effect it would have on them.

MORE DAUGHERTY ANTI TRUST CHARGES

Washington, May 27.—Ragland Momand of New York today renewed before the Senate Daugherty Committee his charges that Former Attorney General Daugherty failed to push an anti-trust prosecution against the United Gas Improvement Company, though the corporation had built up "a 100 per cent. monopoly" of street lighting.

Paul Howland, attorney for Daugherty, got the witness to agree that he had been fighting the gas company for many years, and had complained to President Wilson against the disinclination of Attorneys General Gregory and Palmer to prosecute.

the sedan, wrested the $15,000 the messenger was carrying to the National Shawmut Bank in Boston, then sped off in the direction of Somerville.

The entire $15,000 obtained by the gunmen was in cash.

QUESTION CAR OWNER.

Soon after the robbery the Cambridge police took George Williams of No. 1010 Tremont street, Roxbury, to headquarters for questioning. The limousine with number plates 194,516, which, the police say, is the one used by the holdup men, is registered in Williams' name.

Williams denied knowledge of any robbery. He admitted owning the car. He said a fellow who hangs about the garage where his car is housed, but whose name he does not know, asked him to loan the car for a trip to State street. He agreed and the man returned the car about 10.30 a. m., and was alone.

Hume told the police that the bandits' car came up behind him, passed to his right, crowding him over to the curb so close that a large dent appears in the right rear fender, finally stopping him with both running boards jammed together.

BANDITS WORKED FAST.

An eye witness to the holdup, John T. Maloney, No. 182 Heath street, Roxbury, described the holdup. He said he was walking across the bridge to his place of employment at Ginn & Co., First street, Cambridge, about 9:50 a. m. He saw two cars across the tunnel tracks, but thought it merely a collision. Then he saw one of the men jump out of the limousine, press a gun to Hume's stomach, reach into the messenger's car and take out the money.

Quickly getting back into his own car, the bandit backed away, turned around and sped away in the direction of Harvard Square.

It was all done so quickly that Maloney hardly realized a hold up had taken place until Hume called to him to summon the police.

President Augustine J. Daly, president of the Guaranty Trust Company, was at a loss to explain how the bandits, all of whom were youths, gained knowledge of the daily trips which are made by Hume to Boston with receipts from the previous day.

Treasurer Lloyd A. Frost of the Trust Company is co-operating with the Cambridge police. The bank's loss is fully covered by insurance.

SMITHY SUES FOR RETURN OF HIS JOB

Judge Reserves Decision on Plea Under Veterans' Preference Act

Various phases of the Veterans' Preference Act were fully discussed before Judge Carroll of the Supreme Court today on a petition of Alexander Cassidy against the Boston Transit Commission for a writ of mandamus to compel the respondent to reinstate him in his former position as a blacksmith.

Cassidy was hired in August, 1921, when work was begun on the East Boston tunnel, and was discharged on April 5 last for "lack of work." Cassidy claimed the transit commission had not acted in good faith and that there was plenty of work which might be done by him instead of sending it to private concerns.

Judge Carroll ruled that Cassidy had been discharged because the work for which he was hired had been completed.

Joseph P. Lyons, assistant corporation counsel, claimed the city of Boston was only the agent of the Commonwealth, and under the statute it was provided that the commissioners appointed to perform the duties of building subways and tunnels in Boston could not be controlled by the city of Boston.

Peter C. Borre, counsel for Cassidy, contended that if the Commonwealth had exclusive control of rapid transit activities, Cassidy, under the Veterans' Preference Act, was entitled to a hearing.

Judge Carroll said he was inclined to the opinion that the statute of 1918 applied to Cassidy, in that he was an employe of the transit department of the city of Boston. In order that he might further consider the matter, the judge reserved his decision.

PHALANX CLUB A NUISANCE, JUDGE SAYS

Wishes He Could Close It, but Is Forced to Free Officers in Rum Charge

Judge Palmer, in Roxbury Court, today found officers of the Phalanx Orchestra Club Inc., No. 2150 Washington street, not guilty of keeping a liquor nuisance and keeping and exposing liquor.

Lincoln G. Pope, president, and William Robinson, treasurer of the club, were in court as defendants and evidence was introduced purporting to show that liquor had been found in the club.

In rendering his decision Judge Palmer said that places like the Phalanx Club attracted a socially undesirable class and he would shut up the place if he could, but he must decide on the evidence alone.

The club was raided in April and the officers and club were found guilty at that time, sentences of imprisonment and fines being assessed. An appeal on this is still pending in the Superior Court.

BE-DIAMOND BEGGAR ACCUSED OF STEALING DIME IN POPPY DRIVE

SCORED IN HUB COURT AS 'FRAUD'

Police Charge Nelson Kept Coin Given to Aid Fund for Disabled Veterans

One thin dime—a lone carfare—took Edgar F. Nelson, Boston's de-diamoned beggar, for a ride today.

It rode him right into municipal court for a return engagement. But this time the diamond gleamed not in the beggar's tie, neither was his suit fine spun.

The taxi-riding mendicant life his diamond home, or somewhere, and wore a suit that could not be placed in the Kollege Kut class. This time he was in for the larceny of one dime in the Poppy Drive last Saturday under auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Nelson is alleged to have stolen the silver piece while selling poppies under the name of Daniel Sullivan. After listening to the evidence Judge Murray characterized the beggar as "an imposter and a fraud."

Traffic Officer Connolly later examined Nelson's credentials, which showed a permit from the V. F. W., under the name Daniel Sullivan.

Word was sent to the City Hall avenue station that a "look see" might not be inappropriate, but Nelson had vanished when the policemen arrived. In court he admitted he had gone to Park street subway and sold there.

ASKED PAY FOR SERVICES.

Testimony was given by J. O. Hutchinson of the V. F. W. poppy drive committee; Henry G. Lawson, State chairman of the committee, and George Bodfish, chairman of the Hyde Park drive, that Nelson, giving his name as Sullivan, had volunteered at headquarters of the organization in the State House to sell poppies.

He was given poppies and credentials and told to return at 6 o'clock when the office would close. He did not return until 7:46, it was declared. Then he demanded $5 for his services of an officer who still was there, according to testimony.

The dime Nelson is alleged to have filched was placed in his basket of poppies by a purchaser, instead of in the slotted can he carried. It was brought out.

Nelson was arrested at his home in Roxbury by Sergt. Purcell of the City Hall avenue station, the latter said. At the time of the arrest, according to the sergeant, Nelson insisted that he had given his right name in taking the poppies to sell.

Traffic Officer Edward Quigley and Patrolmen Paul Crowley and Max Singer of the City Hall avenue station testified to occasions when they had seen the mendicant plying his begging trade with the assistance of a pair of crutches.

Nelson, in his testimony, said he had injured his knee in an auto crash and that it tired from long standing in the streets. He used the crutches as a support. He was compelled to beg for a living, he said, because he visits the City Hospital for treatment three times a week and no employer would permit of these absences from work.

Judge Murray continued the case until later in the day in order that the poppy coin box might be brought in, he said.

"I think he is an imposter and a fraud. There is no question but that he is an imposter."

BOTH SIDES OF A DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

AGED WOMAN CLUBBED TO DEATH

Fitchburg, May 27.—Mrs. Mara H. Proctor, eighty-eight years old, was murdered in her room at the Whalom Park home of her nephew, W. W. Sargent, president of the Fitchburg and Leominster Street Railway Co.

Medical Examiner D. S. Woodworth performed an autopsy on the body today. He found that there were three fractures of the skull. One started at the top of the head and ran down to the left eye. One was back of the ear. The other was in the back center of the head. On top of the old woman's head was a hole about an inch and a quarter in diameter. The medical examiner said this hole apparently was made by a metallic instrument in the hands of some person.

The medical examiner declared that the death was undoubtedly murder as it is inconceivable that such fractures could have been received accidentally.

Inspector Harvey and Officer Casey of the Leominster police were assigned to the case and are working on the theory that the aged woman was attacked and killed by a person who entered the house with intent to rob. The Sargent mansion, located at No. 71 Sargent avenue, is imposing in appearance and attractive to burglars.

A window in the room where the dead woman was found which she usually kept closed was open when the body was discovered.

Grafton S. Sargent, son of W. W. Sargent, found the body of his great aunt when he entered her room. The only other person at home at the time was the Sargent maid who was busy in the kitchen.

SALEM POLICE SEIZE BOAT AND 49 CASES

Salem, May 27.—An all night vigil for rum runners conducted by the Salem and Marblehead police ended in success after daylight when Policeman George Gartland of the Salem department, looking across Forest River, saw a large pile of boxes on the steps of the Marblehead branch railroad bridge. He found thirty-one cases containing five gallons of alcohol each and eighteen more floating in a cove. Meanwhile the boat which brought the load was located at Graves' boathouse in Marblehead. It was numbered K 13575.

PHELAN PICKED TO NOMINATE M'ADOO

Chicago, May 27 (A. P.).—James D. Phelan of San Francisco, former Senator, has been selected to place the name of William G. McAdoo before the Democratic convention. He is Mr. McAdoo's personal choice.

Washington, May 27 (I.N.S.).—Albert J. Beveridge, former Senator from Indiana, has been tendered the honor of placing President Coolidge in nomination at the Cleveland convention.

DERAILED CAR HALTS TRAFFIC ON B. & M.

Lawrence, May 27.—Traffic east and west was tied up today by derailment at Shawsheen Village of a B. & M. freight car bound from Portland to Boston. The car straddled both tracks, and it was found necessary to route all traffic over the Lowell route. The midnight express, New York to Boston, by way of Worcester, was among the trains delayed.

Sleeping Sickness Takes Alarming Turn in England

London, May 26 (A.P.)—Death from sleeping sickness of a man as prominent as C. Bower Ismay, shipowner and brother of J. Bruce Ismay, has had the effect of focusing public attention on the alarming spread of the mysterious disease. The disease has always been sporadic in England, but the annual average of cases never exceeded 800 until 1921, when more than 1,000 were registered.

There has been a gradual increase until during the last two months the weekly average of cases has been between 250 and 300, with a mortality of from 12 to 21 per cent. in towns such as London, Birmingham, Sheffield, Bristol and Manchester.

TEN BURNED TO DEATH; FOUR BY FIREBUG

New York, May 27.—Four persons, two children, man and a woman, were burned to death in four early morning fires in Harlem today. Two more are near death. All the fires were believed to have been started by a pyromaniac.

In Newark at least six persons were burned to death in a fire in Windsor Men's Hotel on Hawley street, and it is feared the number may be considerably increased.

A mother and her infant baby received probably fatal injuries when the woman jumped from a second-story window in fleeing the New York fire. All the fires were started in a radius of a few blocks and within a few minutes of each other. In two of the tenement houses, lodging eighty families, firemen found kerosene-soaked rags and a mattress under hallway staircases.

The Windsor Men's Hotel in Newark is located in the center of the automobile tire district. The fire broke out suddenly in the third floor, trapping many of the inmates.

One man was rescued from a window by firemen. A policeman, who was one of the first on the scene, reported seeing three men come to a fire escape door only to be enveloped in flames.

Police have in their possession a tin can which is said to have figured in the cause of the blaze, it being reported that a man in the hotel, going upstairs with a can of disinfectant and smoking a cigarette, threw the can the length of the stairs when the disinfectant ignited.

COTTON MEN SEEK BOOST IN TARIFF

Atlantic City, N. J., May 27.—The American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, in convention at the Hotel Traymore, today prepared to agitate for a higher protective tariff on cotton. Importations have curtailed operations in domestic mills, the delegates declared.

The goal toward which the association is working is to make the cotton industry in the South independent with its own dyeing, bleaching, finishing and mercerizing plants, and even with its own facilities for the manufacture of the necessary machinery. The object of this program is to do away with the necessity of shipping raw material to the North or East for further processing.

LAWYER CLAIMS POSITIVE ALIBI FOR HOFFMAN

New York, May 27.—Counsel for Harry L. Hoffman, Staten Island motion picture operator, today began the defence of his client, announcing he would produce a score of witnesses to hammer away at the circumstantial evidence built up by seventy-two prosecution witnesses in an effort to prove Hoffman killed Mrs. Maude A. Bauer on a lonely road last March 25.

Edith Goldenberg, fifteen years old, testified to having seen Hoffman talking to her sister in front of their home, several miles from the scene of the crime, at 5 p. m. the day of the murder. Mrs. Bauer was killed shortly after 4 p. m.

Alfred Norton, Hoffman's lawyer, in an address to the jury, said he would prove by expert witnesses that the death-dealing bullets could not have been fired from the automatic pistol owned by the defendant. He added he also would prove Hoffman was not near the scene of the crime on March 25.

Helen Goldenberg, sister of Edith, said that late in the afternoon of March 25 she talked to Hoffman and that he was then wearing a gray coat, gray hat, and small eyeglasses.

Helen Harford, 9 years old, said she saw Hoffman near his home on March 25 at about 5 p. m. Attorney Norton called several schoolgirl friends of Barbara Fahs in an effort to cast doubt upon Barbara's identification of Hoffman.

DAYLIGHT SAVERS PLAN TO ORGANIZE

A group of advocates of daylight saving, interested in increasing its benefits, applied at the State House today for a charter for an organization to be known as "The Daylight Saving Association of Massachusetts, Inc."

The papers were filed by Walter Powers, attorney at No. 15 Congress street. The other incorporators are: Attorney Claude L. Allen, Ashton L. Carr, Claude B. Davidson, A. Lincoln Filene, Robert V. Spencer, Edward F. Woods and Mrs. Mary Livermore Barrows.

SLAYER ATTACKS 2 WOMEN IN CELL

Florence, Ariz., May 27.—William B. Ward, condemned murderer, sought to hold two women in his death cell until granted his freedom, seriously stabbing one, and in turn was set upon and beaten by fifty convicts.

In response to his request Mrs. J. E. Wright and Miss Stella Martin just had baptized Ward when he attacked Mrs. Wright with an icepick. Ward was sentenced to be hanged for slaying Ted Grosh, University of Arizona athlete.

TWO MEN KILLED IN MINING TOWN FEUD

Santa Fe., N. M., May 27 (I.N.S.)—Two men are dead, another is in critical condition and the town of Los Cerrillos, twenty miles south of here, is in an uproar today following an old-time feud that raged in the little mining town for two days.

James Aranda is held on charges of manslaughter. He is said to have started the fighting, during which axes were used freely. Sheriff's officers were rushed from Santa Fe to quell the disorders.

VETO TEACHERS' PAY RAISE IN SOMERVILLE

School Board Rejects Petition of 2,700 Taxpayers on Commission's Advice

Somerville school teachers will get no increase in pay this year. The School Board voted against a salary raise of $100 per year for elementary grade teachers. They then voted down a proposition to increase $100 per year the salaries of all teachers receiving less than $3000.

Notwithstanding 2700 taxpayers headed by Clara G. Heagan presented a petition requesting the teachers be granted $200 more in yearly wage, the Finance Committee advised against the measure and this also was turned down by the Board.

On recommendation of the Teachers' Council grade schools will have but one session during the months of June and September, children attending school only in the mornings from 8:30 to 12:30.

By a vote of 11 to 2 the Board voted to elect Guy P. Carver a teacher in the Northeastern Junior High School. Last April, the same board by a vote of 9 to 2 refused to re-elect Carver as submaster in the Northeastern school because of charges that he had attacked a pupil and blackened his eye. Carver's salary will be $1800 per year. His appointment is the result of reconsideration of former action, and a hearing granted him.

Would Make Jews in Germany Wear Uniform Garb

Berlin, May 27.—The Hitlerites will enter the new Reichstag with many motions, including a peremptory fiat that all Jews who have entered Germany since 1914 be deported after seizure of their fortunes.

The Chauvinists also plan anti-Semitic legislation, providing for re-establishment of the Ghetto and adoption by Semitic subjects of the uniform headgear and hirsute adornments.

The progressive Jew who changes his family name of Edelstein into "Diamond" would be compelled to readopt his original apellation.

SECOND FIERY CROSS FIRED AT DARTMOUTH

Only Two of the Participants Identified as Having Set Blaze on Campus

Hanover, N. H., May 27.—Still hiding their identity a group of undergraduates fired a second cross on the campus. It was wound with black cloth and ignited by strings that had been soaked in oil.

The participants in the demonstration were seen leaving the spot just after the fire broke out but only two of them could be identified. Because of the complete secrecy of the activities of the Klan in Hanover it is not definitely known whether the perpetrators are members or not.

The second fiery cross burned within two weeks on the campus is beginning to arouse interest in the college community. No action has yet been taken, but it is expected the instigators will be soon revealed. Several seniors have been approached this semester as prospective members of the Klan.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Garden Party Today For Cambridge Debutante, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

A RATHER breathless group is waiting in the wings for the rising of the social curtain upon the coming season.

They are the debutantes of 1924-25, and they are just as an attractive and fun-loving band as ever made their curtsey to society.

For these fair young buds today is of red-letter importance. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dubois Tudor are raising the curtain upon the festivities of 1924-25 with the garden party they are giving this afternoon at their Cambridge residence for their daughter, Miss Anne Elizabeth Tudor.

Kathleen Rotch

Unless the weather decrees otherwise, the affair will have a charming al fresco setting. After sun-down the buds and their cavaliers will enjoy dancing within the house.

This afternoon's party is rather in the nature of a prologue, for the "first act" will not come until the Fall, when kaleidoscopic events pass across the social stage in almost bewilderingly rapid succession.

AMONG the girls presiding at the tea tables at Miss Tudor's debut this afternoon are Miss Jane Noble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Noble of Cambridge; Miss Kathleen Rotch, daughter of Mrs. Henry Parkman, Jr., and Miss Harriet B. Rantoul, daughter of Mrs. Lois B. Rantoul.

Harriet Rantoul

Miss Rotch, who was, I believe, to have been presented to society last Winter, is a very skilled equestrienne and has carried a number of coveted trophies from the ring.

Others of the 1924-25 group who will be present at the party include the Misses Helen Lovering, Katherine Cram, Helen Moseley, Isabel Shaw, Elizabeth Fenno, Evelyn Windeler and Ellen Frothingham.

SPEAKING of the fair young maids who will reign as belles throughout the coming season, quite a number of them have been enrolled as ushers for the three performances of "The Piper."

The presentations will be held out Cambridge way, on the grounds of the Longfellow estate, on June 5, 6 and 7.

Miss Tudor, today's bud, will be of the ushers who will don the garb of quaint Holland maids for the occasion. Another group will sell candy, all to help swell the coffers of the Cambridge Neighborhood House.

MISS JANE L. NOBLE

Miss Jane L. Noble, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Noble of Cambridge, will be presented during the season 1924-25. Miss Noble is pictured here as she was snapped while helping at an affair given for the Children's Hospital.

"OLD HOMESTEAD" ACTOR DEAD, AGED 71

Leominster, May 27.—Henry McDonald, one of the old Denman Thompson troupe that endeared "The Old Homestead" to thousands of playgoers in the bygone days, is dead at the age of seventy-one.

The old actor died at the Leominster Hospital. He came here to live a short time ago.

During the nine years' run of Denman Thompson's familiar rustic play McDonald drove the oxen in the play in typical New England farmer style.

JAPS TO SEND PROTEST ON EXCLUSION

Action of Congress No Surprise in Tokio; Cabinet Will Prepare Message

Tokio, May 27 (A.P.).—Signing of the immigration bill by President Coolidge surprised nobody here. During the past fortnight the Foreign Office has been working on a protest against the provision of the bill excluding Japanese from the United States, anticipating its final enactment.

The Cabinet, it is understood, at its meeting today, discussed the protest, which will be sent to Ambassador Hanihara in Washington in a few days.

The protest, it was learned, will be based on alleged violation of Japan's treaty rights under the first article of the treaty of commerce and navigation between the United States and Japan.

Article one of the treaty of commerce and navigation between Japan and the United States provides for equal treatment of the subjects and citizens of the contracting parties as to residence and travel to carry on trade.

The statement of President Coolidge, accompanying his signature of the bill, was described by a Foreign Office spokesman today as "a source of great comfort to Japan." This spokesman said it was believed that the statement would be effective in some degree in lessening agitation against America here.

From the same source it also was learned that officials here had understood Mr. Coolidge's position and appreciated the stand he took.

Jap Press Calls on Nation to "Prove Her Pride"

Tokio, May 27 (A.P.).—The Yorozu, a jingo newspaper, commenting on the signing of the immigration bill by President Coolidge, says: "The final enactment of the immigration bill shows how little regard Americans have for Japan's reasonable complaint.

"The final action was carefully premeditated, without haste, showing a conviction that it is possible for Japan to be ignored without danger to the United States. The time has come for the Japanese nation to prove whether the American way of dealing with international affairs shall be tolerated by a nation with any national pride."

YOUTH CLEARED AS PRIEST'S SLAYER

Murder Charge Nol Prossed by Cummings After Suspect Proves Alibi

Bridgeport, May 27.—Declaring that "it is just as important for a State's attorney to use the great powers of his office to protect the innocent as to convict the guilty," State's Attorney Homer S. Cummings, with the approval of Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin, in Superior Court today entered a nolle pros in the case of Harold F. Israel, ex-service man, held for the murder of Rev. Hubert F. Dahme, shot and killed in the street here February 4 last.

After a lengthy analysis of what he says "upon its face, at least, seemed a wellnigh perfect case," Mr. Cummings expressed the conclusion that Israel did not murder the priest.

Israel was by this action automatically freed from a charge of first degree murder. He is serving ninety days for carrying a concealed weapon. The sentence will expire June 5.

Mr. Cummings' presentation of the case to Judge Marvin covers the events in minutest detail from the moment Father Dahme was shot. There was no criticism of the police department, coroner's office or city court for holding Israel.

The State's Attorney, in fact, said their actions prior to the time the case reached the Superior Court, were in every respect logical and proper.

The State's Attorney's action was based on two general grounds:

That Israel established a perfect alibi for his presence elsewhere than at the scene of the murder at the time it was committed and, that six ballistic engineers, after experiments, expressed the positive statement that the bullet which killed Rev. Father Dahme was not fired from the revolver found in Israel's possession.

ELIOT, ROOT, HOLMES TO GET T. R. MEDALS

Washington, May 27.—President Coolidge accepted an invitation today to present the medals awarded annually by the Roosevelt Memorial Association. The ceremonies will be held next Monday in the East Room of the White House.

The three medals have been awarded this year to Elihu Root, for administration of public office; Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the Supreme Court, for development of public law, and Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, for development of American character.

7 CONDEMNED MEN DIG OWN GRAVES

Bisbee, Ariz., May 27.—Seven men alleged to have participated in the raiding of several Chinese ranches and burning four railroad bridges of the Southern Pacific de Mexico Railroad, were captured by forces of General Jesus Aguilar and were executed at Cananea, according to word reaching here.

The men were taken to a cemetery, and made to dig a shallow pit. They were then lined up before a firing squad and executed, falling into the graves they had dug.

ACCUSED POLICEMAN OFFERS NO DEFENCE

William J. Bradley, patrolman from Fields Corner station, refused to offer any defence before a trial board at police headquarters when charged with conduct unbecoming an officer. Lewis Slosberg, proprietor of a "near beer" establishment at Court and Sudbury streets, said the officer entered his place and when refused a drink offered to beat John Moore, bartender, and then threatened him with a gun.

Commissioner Wilson is reviewing the evidence.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS ELECT OFFICERS

At the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants these officers and directors were elected: President, Stanley G. H. Fitch; vice-president, Frederick Bond Cherrington; secretary, Charles F. Rittenhouse; treasurer, Arthur T. Chase. Directors are the above and J. Edward Masters, C. Oliver Wellington and Elbridge A. Bollong.

SPRINGFIELD MEDAL OF HONOR MAN DEAD

Springfield, May 27.—John J. Walsh, Civil War veteran and holder of the medal of honor for bravery in action, is dead here. Walsh, it was made known today, in the battle of Cedar Creek in 1864, recaptured the colors of the 50th New Jersey regiment.

Walsh was a member of the 50th New York Cavalry. The medal was presented by Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton.

MAY CLOSE HOUSE FOR LIQUOR VIOLATIONS

Chicago, May 27 (I.N.S.).—An injunction to close a private residence for violation of the prohibition law—the first issue in this State—was granted in the Federal Court against John Ostrowsko. The court allowed the defendants to file bond and live in the house and the police are to have access to the house at all times and permission to search for liquor. If liquor should again be found in the home Ostrowsko is to go to jail for contempt and the premises are to be padlocked.

C. OF C. FIGHTS INCREASE IN PHONE RATES

Claims Cost of Recent Strike Charged Up to Operating Expense

Cross-examination by George Grant, general counsel for the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, of Daniel Bloomfield, representing the Retail Trade Board of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, featured the telephone hearing before the Department of Public Utilities today.

Attorney Bloomfield summarized his reasons for his belief that the company is not justified in securing the relief sought in toll rates and in the rates for private switchboards.

He said the facilities and equipment of the company have not been used to capacity and that as a result the revenue from 1920 to 1923 has shown a continual decline.

That the decline in revenue has resulted in the inability on the part of the company to take care of increased operating costs and increased interest charges.

That the company charged into the operating expenses of 1923 the cost of the strike of the operators, whereas they should not have been included in the comparative statement of operating expenses submitted in substantiation of its claims.

PHONE COMPANY EXTRA LEVIES ASSAILED

Jordan Marsh Official Calls Switchboard Charge Opening Wedge for General Raise

How many minutes do YOU wait for your party after your telephone connection has been made?

Perhaps one minute—two—more—while the particular person you wish is being called, or while the private connection is being made if you are calling a switchboard.

Those minutes are going to cost you real dollars now.

A dollar here and a dollar there, to make up the million and a half that the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company will take from the purses of the people of Boston and New England if their demand for a rate increase is granted.

BOWL IS SHRINKING

"Our bowl is shrinking," explains Vice-President McDavitt, of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. "We have raised our wages, we have incurred new expenses and we've got to fill up the bowl to maintain our eight per cent. dividend."

"Easy enough," says Thomas F. Lockney, of the Jordan Marsh Company; "but when our bowl is shrinking, we have to let it shrink or fill it up ourselves. We have to be satisfied with less dividends—just as most other concerns who do not enjoy a public monopoly."

And the other heads of business and professional enterprises supplying the needs of the city's population echo the remark.

When your bowl is empty and the slim "nest egg" you try to snatch from the weekly pay envelope has turned into "unexpected demands," you can't go to the pay master and tell him offhand—that your bowl is shrinking."

"But we're going to play fairy godmother to the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, because there's a little shrinkage in their bowl," says Lockney.

350 P. C. INCREASE

Jordan Marsh Company, typical of the big business houses that cater to the city's needs, maintain a ten-position switchboard for which they now pay $10 a position, a total of $100 a month. If the rate increase goes through they will pay $350 a month—an increase of 350 per cent.

"At the narrowest estimate—on merely our building calls—it means a jump of between five and six thousand dollars a year," declares Lockney.

"It means that we shall have to pinch here and there; deprive our employes of their personal calls, transfer our heavy toll service to New York to night letters and do our bit to make good the losses of the telephone company.

"The switchboard system was installed in local business houses at the suggestion of the telephone officials. It was to their advantage; in our case it saved the Beach operators the multitude of calls they would have had to handle if our business was done exclusively through the Beach exchange.

SEEK "EASY PICKINGS."

"Apparently the 'phone company simply looked around for the most fruitful source of new revenue and decided that the users of switchboards were the easiest pickings.

Jazz Angers Tigers, but Delights Baboons

Los Angeles, May 27.—Playing a waltz puts a tiger to sleep; lions come nearest to laughing when they listen to a saxophone, and baboons are almost human in their weakness for jazz, psychologists and students have deduced.

They invaded a zoo here with an orchestra and carried on numerous experiments to obtain data on the reaction certain types of music produced in various animals.

Jazz numbers angered the tigers. The babboons danced to the banana tune. Brown bears went into a tantrum when confronted with a moaning saxophone. An elephant shied at the bass viol, trumpeted at the roll of a drum, but appeared immensely pleased with the trombone.

Mary, the ape, smoked cigarettes through the whole performance.

HERO KILLED AS BRAVERY IS REWARDED

Hero of two daring rescues of horses from burning stables, John B. Crowley, twenty-two-year-old ex-service man of No. 390 Franklin street, Cambridge, met his death in the old Union Stables on Green street, Cambridge, when he slipped from a wagon upon which he had been sleeping, and falling about eight feet to the ground, broke his neck.

John B. Crowley

Only three days ago he was awarded a gold medal for heroism by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

In the very same stables in which he met his death, Crowley, on May 5 last, saved twenty-five horses from death in a fire which swept through the stables.

About a year and a half ago, Crowley single-handed, rescued eighteen horses in the blaze which destroyed another stable.

DR. MAYO PREDICTS CURE FOR CANCER

New York, May 27.—American doctors will find a cure for cancer within a few years, it was predicted by Dr. Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., who spoke at the opening of the New York city cancer institute.

"We're going to conquer cancer—that terrible disease—and rid the world of it, regardless of cost," he said.

Asked later how soon this cure would be effected, Dr. Mayo predicted it would be found "within a few years," and that it would be discovered in America by American doctors.

A MAN WHO BECAME FAMOUS

Doctor R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears above, was not only a successful physician but also a profound student of the medicinal qualities of Nature's remedies, roots and herbs, and by close observation of the methods used by the Indians, he discovered their great remedial qualities, especially for weaknesses of women, and after careful preparation succeeded in giving to the world a remedy which has been used by women with the best results for half a century. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is still in great demand, while many other so-called "cure-alls" have come and gone. The reason for its phenomenal success is because of its absolute purity, and Dr. Pierce's high standing as an honored citizen of Buffalo is a guarantee of all that is claimed for the Favorite Prescription as a regulator for the ills peculiar to women.

CAPTURE MAID FLEEING WITH $30,000 GEMS

Young Woman Trapped in Cambridge Home Suspected of Many Thefts

Miss Flora Johnson, twenty-two-year-old negro maid, was captured by three Cambridge police inspectors after a wild chase through the main streets of Cambridge which ended when the girl ran into an undertaker's home, climbed a flight of stairs and bowled the undertaker over as he emerged from the bathroom where he was shaving.

Jewels valued at $30,000 dangled from her arm and neck during the chase.

She was booked on charges of larceny from persons unknown and with receiving stolen goods.

Word was received from the Brookline police several days ago that a girl answering the description of Miss Johnson, obtained work as a maid in a Brookline home, and then disappeared with valuable goods owned by her employer.

Captain Patrick J. Hurley, with Inspectors Landrigan and Carroll were walking through Central Square when they saw the girl. Her description tallied with that given them by the Brookline police and they started to approach her.

The girl ran. They followed in pursuit and for several minutes she led them through streets in the vicinity of Central square. Finally, as they were about to reach out and catch her she turned suddenly into the driveway to the home of Horace Litchfield, an undertaker.

The back door was unlatched and she ran in.

The three police officials followed and she hurriedly climbed a flight of stairs.

Mr. Litchfield, who was shaving when the "cyclone" struck, came out to the hallway to determine the cause of all the turmoil. He was just in time to be bowled against the wall as the girl crashed into him. His face was covered with lather.

One of the inspectors took the front door guard and Litchfield chased Miss Johnson down the front stairs. She was trapped when she came to the locked front door.

They questioned her and she refused to talk about the jewelry. She admitted, however, police say, that she is the girl wanted by the Brookline authorities.

Babylonian Fakirs Make 8 Kings Rule 241,200 Years

Philadelphia, May 27 (I.N.S.)—Dr. Howard Chiera, professor of Assyriology at the University of Pennsylvania, tells of the discovery of a four-sided prism, inscribed in the Sumerian language, giving the names of eight kings who ruled in the 241,000 years (according to the Babylonians) preceding the flood.

The eight kings who ruled within a period of 241,200 years are paralleled by another list, discovered not long ago, according to Dr. Chiera of ten kings whose rule covered 432,000 years.

"Did the Babylonians really believe that their ancient heroes had lived for such incredibly long periods of time?" Dr. Chiera asked. "They certainly did not.

"They did not have sufficient historical and traditional records to fill up a gap in their history which would extend into hundreds of thousands of years. They stretched the lives of the personages they knew to make them cover the whole period."

WINS OVERSEAS PAY FOR DUTY IN U. S. CAMP

Washington, May 27.—Troops in cantonments in this country during the World War, in training to go overseas, were "operating against an enemy," the Supreme Court held.

The government raised the question in a case against Charles J. Ferris, who, during a part of the war served, by order of the commanding general of the Eightieth Division, as colonel of the 315th Field Artillery in training at Camp Lee, Virginia.

Colonel Ferris, at the time of this assignment was lieutenant-colonel of the 314th Field Artillery, and the Court of Claims held that he was entitled to the pay of colonel "serving with troops operating against an enemy."

The government contended that the only troops operating against the enemy were those overseas, and that officers serving with the troops training for war in this country were not entitled to the increased pay.

35 ARE KILLED, 75 HURT, IN TORNADOES

One Town Completely Wiped Out as Storms Sweep Through Delta Section

New Orleans, May 27.—Thirty-five persons were killed and seventy-five injured in tornadoes which swept southern Mississippi and Alabama early today.

Seventeen were killed in Mississippi and heavy damage caused in the wake of a series of storms.

Reports from Brook Haven said eight persons living in the little town of Johnson station, 12 miles from there, were killed and twelve injured, at least one probably fatally, when a tornado virtually wiped out the town.

An unconfirmed report was that the storm had caused heavy property damage at Summit, near Brook Haven, but did not say whether there had been loss of life. All wires to the two stricken towns were down and details were lacking.

Three negroes were killed and twelve other persons injured in a tornado which demolished eleven buildings on the plantation of W. B. Swain, fifteen miles east of Greenville, one of the largest individually owned in the delta section.

Ten persons were killed at Empire, Ala. The victims were white persons, members of three households whose homes were destroyed.

Miss Gane Moseley Robertson, fifteen, and Miss Sara Bass, fifteen, were killed and a dozen persons injured when a storm swept through Collins, Miss.

REALTY DEALER MISSING; FOUL PLAY FEARED

John McAllister of Woburn Had Large Sum of Money When Last Seen

John McAllis, fifty-year-old Woburn real estate man, is mysteriously missing from home following an attack on him by three Italians on a lonely Reading road, in which an attempt was made to rob him of several hundred dollars which he carried, crumpled in a ball, in his pocket.

The Italians, he told his relatives, threatened to get him after he successfully beat them off and made his escape.

A few days later, on April 13, he left his boarding house as usual after completing sales on two houses which he owned. These sales netted him at least $4,000 in cash, according to his sister, Mrs. E. W. Fessenden of Walpole, who asked the Boston American to locate her brother.

HERBERT, THE COMPOSER, DROPS DEAD

America's Best Known Author of Light Opera Victim of Heart Attack

New York, May 27—(Universal)—Victor Herbert, America's best known light opera composer and an orchestral director of international reputation, dropped dead on the sidewalk in front of his physician's office in 57th street. His death was attributed to heart deisease.

Victor Herbert

Death came when Herbert was at the height of his powers, for within the last year he had composed and directed overtures and incidental music for "Little Old New York" and "Yolanda," two starring vehicles of Miss Marion Davies, besides the incidental music for "Under the Red Robe" and "The Great White Way." His orchestra at the Cosmopolitan Theatre, which he organized and trained, was one of the best of symphonic scope in the city.

Mr. Herbert's health was supposed to have been perfectly sound. Shortly after dinner, however, he complained of feeling ill and his family proposed that he call on his physician, Dr. Emanuel Baruch. He had almost reached the doctor's doorstep when he collapsed.

The composer was sixty-four years old, and leaves a wife, Mrs. Therese Herbert, a daughter, Ella, who lived with him, and a son, Clifford, who is in business in Chicago.

Some of his leading comic opera compositions were "Prince Ananias," "Cyrano de Bergerac," "The Ameer," "The Viceroy," "Fortune Teller," "Babette," "The Idol's Eye," "Mlle. Modiste" and "The Wizard of the Nile."

Last week Mr. Herbert visited Boston and attended a performance of his last production, "The Dream Girl." He directed the orchestra at the Wilbur Theatre through an entire act and later addressed the audience from the stage. He was accorded an ovation.

MORSE, WRITER OF MANY SONGS, DEAD

New York, May 27.—Theodore Morse, writer of "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," and other popular songs, died suddenly here. He was fifty-three.

Other songs written by Mr. Morse were "Mother," "Blue Bells" and "Dear Old Girl."

When Broadway learned that Morse was ill, it planned to have the chorus at a theatre sing some of his ballads so that they might be broadcast to the bedside. The program was carried into effect, but too late to cheer the composer, who had died earlier in the day.

Mr. Morse was vice-president of the association of song writers. He was fifty-three years old and active in Masonic circles.

To these things we pledge ourselves and this organization

A Statement by William B. Ward
New President of the Ward Baking Co.

I have told you that it shall be the aim of my associates and myself to carry on the principles of my father, Robert Boyd Ward, who founded this business. To maintain his standards. To restore his old recipes. To carry out his ideals. And to be unceasing in our efforts to make better and better bread and finer cake.

My associates all share this resolve. Many of them knew my father years ago. Some learned the baking business from him—men whose loyalty to his standards and ideals has continued through thick and thin.

The heritage that he left this company and his vision of what he wanted to make it had he lived, shall be carried onward.

To these things we pledge ourselves and this organization.

Our first effort in this direction is our new loaf, which we have called Ward's Fine Bread—the name that my father used years ago. This loaf is made from an old recipe of his—the recipe that was his idea of a good, honest loaf of bread—with the addition of even more milk, sugar and shortening—the direction in which he was working when he died in 1915.

When you have tried this new loaf, I shall be glad to have you write me what you think of it.

STAR CAST IN REVIVAL OF CROOK PLAY

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

It matters little whether you take revivals at their face value or less, "Leah Kleschna," at the Shubert last evening—widely proclaimed as William A. Brady's all-star presentation of C. M. S. McLellan's crook play of yesterday—at least gave you an enjoyable glimpse of Helen Gahagan in an inspiring interpretation of a role that brought kindly recognition and a bit of glory to Mrs. Fiske in days when the lady burglar of the drama struggled along in swaddling clothes.

WOMAN STAR SCORES.

Naturally an all-star cast is something of a handicap to any play that has served its time and service, and with such names as Arnold Daly and William Faversham to give it flavor and impetus, "Leah Kleschna" laid its own claim upon public favor.

However, despite anything Mr. Daly or Mr. Faversham could do for their art in an old fashioned play that reeked with old fashioned flights of speech, Miss Gahagan managed to take things in her own hands with considerable vigor and make the evening passably enlivening for those who accepted Mr. Brady at his word.

"Leah Kleschna" may have been the forerunner of the deluge of crook plays that have glutted the stage in recent seasons—although that may be a debatable subject among the professors of the drama. In any event, Mr. McLellan's play adapted itself weakly to the modern stage, and not even the occasional flash of an artistically curved hip flask gave it any of the color you might expect in a Volsteadian drama of these hectic days.

MAKES LEAH HUMAN.

Of course, Mr. Daly set himself up in good form as the master crook who chased an attractive daughter into evil ways, and Mr. Faversham more than held his own, as acting goes, in heroics that were as obvious as they were conventional. Mr. Daly strutted pompously and Mr. Faversham breathed and uttered sweet thoughts in the best manner of a well trained actor, but Miss Gahagan alone lifted the performance to something near the high level which Mr. Brady had fixed as his standard of managerial glorification.

"Leah Kleschna," at its best, belongs to another era of theatrical endeavor and toilers like Daly and Faversham were naturaly hard pressed in their task of holding the playgoer of today to passing interest. Miss Gahagan, however, took matters in hand and made Leah a distinctly human young woman, whose emotions not only rang true, but which more than held their own in a modernized revival of a play that belonged to another generation.

With warm weather lurking in the background, "Leah Kleschna" will do well to hold its allotted time at the Shubert without dragging Mr. Brady into financial misery.

BEE WARD AND MAYME WARD

Y. D. RECORD IN WAR SHOWN IN FILM

"The World Ablaze," the photographic record of the joint efforts of the allies on the various war fronts, began its engagement at Tremont Temple with a large and distinguished audience at its initial performance.

In the animated and tragic scenes is a vivid record of the work of the 2th division, "New England's own," commanded and led by Maj.-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards.

Supplementing the reels were talks by Gen. Edwards and Maj. Edward J. Sampson, the latter representing Gov. Cox.

Each made a plea for preparedness, drawing the conclusion that the depicted horrors of war should teach that, if a repetition of such scenes were to be avoided, the youth of the country must be inspired and prepared to prevent this country being embroiled in another war.

There are some especially fine views of the Italian-Austrian front and scenes in the Anzac camps. Closeups of the huge guns, tanks and trench and river warfare are shown. "The World Ablaze," official war pictures, will be shown twice daily.

TED LEWIS AND JAZZ FEATURED AT KEITH'S

The jazziest king of jazz syncopation is back with Boston theatregoers for one week. Ted Lewis and his world famous dance orchestra is the feature act on an exceptionally fine vaudeville bill at Keith's Theatre this week.

Ted appeared in his usual high hat and cape and from the minute that he announced himself until the curtain dropped the theatre echoed with applause.

After a number of fast fox trots Lewis surprised the gathering by playing his featured waltz "Good Night."

Bird Millman, sensational tight wire walker, is satisfied that Boston folks are going to like her. She received an ovation second only to Ted Lewis.

As a laugh creator Frank Dixo is the leader of this week's bill. Frank is well known to the patrons at this theatre in his portrayal of a native New Yorker back from the West without funds. Lucas and Inez, in an athletic sketch, also made a hit.

RUSTIC HUMOR IN "ALARM CLOCK"

Choice morsels of rustic up-State humor, a la Avery Hopwood, contained in "The Alarm Clock," were served by the Boston Stock Company at the St. James Theatre last night, to a highly amused audience.

The rapid-fire conversion of the "Kamm Corners's" Intelligentzia to an appreciation of syncopated music, dry Martinis and the "Purple Pup," after a forty-year fast in the desert, furnished the substance of the comedy.

Homer, the village Socrates, arrives in New York, armed with a volume of Filipino verse and a crop of whiskers guaranteed to protect him from the weather like a California one-man top. Within the short space of two months, Homer has the fast-stepping gentry of night time New York looking like a crowd of "Also-Rans" that went lame on the second lap.

Homer's sweet young "sweetie" from Kamm's Corner" also steps out and learns the ropes under able guidance.

Mary's mamma, betrothed to the local banker and poet—only he "can't give all his time to it like Longfellow did"—gives up making tomato marmalade and writing oratorios to devote her waking hours to the jazz resorts of Washington square.

It's all well done, and you'll get a real kick out of Anna Layng, especially when she gathers her latest subject to her heart and says: "Kiss me, my clam!"

GREAT CIRCUS DRAWS HUGE CROWDS

The great Sells Floto Circus is in town on its annual visit, and if any evidence of that fact were needed it could have been found, and will be found, in the crowds that wend their way to the new show grounds at Andrew square, South Boston.

The "big show" is here, bigger and better than ever, with more daring acts and massive spectacular thrills.

Under the big top the program opens with an elaborate Egyptian pageant called the "Bride and the Beasts." The beautiful Princess Sahadamese is to be sacrificed to the God Amon. To the blare of trumpets, she is carried into the pen by native slaves and the wild animals are set loose. But the Gods forget her sins and she tames the wild beasts.

TRAINED BEASTS.

There is an entirely new program of highly trained jungle beasts. A number of very clever animal trainers, including one pretty young woman, put lions, tigers and polar bears through intricate tricks. Most of the beasts act as though they didn't like it, but the polar bears are gentle.

As usual the clowns are, as the program puts it, "a foolish number of foolish men who are paid because they are foolish" are much in evidence. They all succeed in their job of laugh getting.

Among the individuals who shine is Miss Irene Ledgett, arenic star, who shows up as a wonderful equestrienne, an elephant trainer, and a noted aerialist. Another feature of the gigantic circus is that dainty little feminine aerial athlete, Miss Erma Ward. Miss Ward does over 150 arm swings in mid-air while the audience gasps.

Mayme Ward, a sister of Erma, designated as the only woman double somersaulting aerialist in the world, does a double somersault in the air, while blindfolded, and with a gunnysack over her head and shoulders.

RACE EXCITING.

A small fortune is represented in an act of trained horses with a bevy of pretty girls as riders. Among the concluding numbers are the races. Straight horse races, a pony race, with monkey riders; a liberty race, with a horse and rider, racing a horse without a rider; three horse tandem races, and last but the most exciting and thrilling of all, a Roman standing race.

The most novel thing of all, which has never been seen before at a circus, is a hippopotamus ambling around the track obliging his trainer by eating all the popcorn in sight.

Everybody went away satisfied that it was the best and most amusing show seen in Boston for some time.

Why INDICAN Indicates Danger for Most People.

"When Indican Writes, It Uses a Poison Pen"

ASK your doctor about INDICAN. He will tell you it is a substance looked for in examining his patients thoroughly. If he finds it in you—it means that the poisons of constipation are seeping through your blood into every muscle and every joint. This is what does the damage. It robs you of your pep—it poisons your optimism and good spirit—it pales your face and puts blemishes there—it gives you headaches—causes indigestion. No wonder you feel drugged when constipated.

You can get only temporary relief from most laxatives. But Carter's Little Liver Pills, it has been found, not only "physic" the stomach, liver and intestines quickly, but also drive the INDICAN away.

Make This Test: Have an analysis made of your specimen and if the doctor reports the presence of INDICAN, or if you can "feel" how poisoned you are—immediately start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills as prescribed by him, or according to directions. Now have another test made and see how the INDICAN disappears. See how your complexion brightens and clears, your tongue is sweet and clean, you can eat like a kid again, in most cases.

Important: Carter's Little Liver Pills, used for 67 years by millions of people all over the world are a purely vegetable preparation and contain no drugs of any nature. They therefore act in a natural way and are non-habit forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.

Cape Cod Beckons To Autoists

By BOBBIE SHAFTOE

In featuring any section of the country for a week-end and vacation resort, it must be remembered that there are "many men of many minds." Surely Cape Cod is one section that must appeal to each type of vacationist—for it is ideal for the fisherman, the yachtman, the golfer, the bather, the tramper, the horseback rider, the painter, the photographer, the architect, the hunter, the antique collector, the children, and the lover of loneliness and the song of the sea.

The Cape is the ideal solution for the man who wants to send his family to the country or seashore for the Summer and to have them near enough to the city for him to join them holidays and week-ends. Excellent motor roads, good hotels, hospitable inns, and an unusual combination of sea and country are just a few of the Cape's attractions.

If you are planning a week-end or a holiday trip, take my advice and arrange all the details in advance—your route, where you will stop for luncheon, and for dinner and where you will spend the night. Make your reservations in advance whenever possible as this insures you against disappointment.

SERVICE IS GOOD.

It also secures for you first choice accommodations. Then if anything happens to throw you off your schedule the reservations can be readily cancelled by telephone.

I have travelled every mile of this trip just as it is shown and you can depend on the mileage given and that road conditions are just as described. Every hotel and inn mentioned can be relied on for comfortable accommodations and good service and food.

So now we are off.

There are several ways of reaching Cape Cod from Boston.

PLYMOUTH ROUTE

Leaving. Boston from the Hotel Lenox or Brunswick, Copley Square, go north to Commonwealth avenue. Turn left to Charlesgate West. Turn left passing Collins Monument. Cross the viaduct over the railroad bridge, and at fork just beyond bear left. Follow the main driveway in the Fenway straight ahead passing the Forsythe Dental Infirmary and the rear of the Art Museum on the left. Fork—bear right—cross Brookline avenue (trolley) on Riverway—Brookline Village, cross Huntington avenue (trolley) into Jamaica. Fork—Jamaica Pond on right—bear right and just beyond bear left Arborway to

PASS THROUGH QUINCY.

20.33 Hingham. To end of road. Meet trolley, turn left straight ahead under the railroad to North Cohasset—Hull street and Jerusalem road. Bear slightly left on Jerusalem road. Leave trolley, follow shore. Avoid right hand roads—to three corners at water trough. Bear right, end of road—turn left—then right.

27.1 Cohasset—Polly's Place has just been opened at Cohasset, and is one of the nicest little places to be found on this trip. She specializes in milk-fed chickens, raised especially for her, and on oyster dinners, although you can secure just a light lunch if you wish. Special dining room for parties.

Four corners at church, turn left to North Scituate, straight ahead, cross railroad. Turn left from Minot's. Egypt. Irregular four corners just beyond garage on right. Bear right. Scituate Centre. Four corners straight ahead, bear left for Scituate. Greenbush. Three corners at trough, turn left, four corners at top of slight grade, turn left. Marshfield Hills, end of road at small pond. Turn left and bear right at fork beyond. Seaview, station on right, straight ahead. Turn left for Humarock Beach.

Here you will find the Humarock Inn where you can obtain an excellent chicken or lobster dinner at a reasonable price. Perhaps you will want to linger for a dip on this excellent beach. Humarock is becoming more popular every year with vacationers and motorists.

Leaving Humarock to 3 corners. Bear right to Center Marshfield. Curve right passing cemetery on left down grade end of road. Turn left to 40.4 Marshfield. Postoffice on left. Turn right. Moraine street at Fork. Keep left on Moraine street. Turn left for Brant Rock. A beach with good surf and fine sand rivalling Nantasket. The Brant Rock House offers an excellent place for a day, a week or an entire summer. Famous for its fish dinners.

53.3 Plymouth. Another route is to follow the above routing to Quincy and Washington street, then straight ahead with the trolley on Hancock street, passing City Hall on right. At fork bear left with trolley on Quincy avenue to Weymouth. At fork bear left at gasolene station fork—bear left—to four corners. Straight ahead through Accord, joining trolley. Follow trolley at fork; cemetery on left. Bear left and straight through irregular four corners just ahead to 28.2 Hanover. Four Corners. Straight ahead, past the Pentooset Inn, which is now under the management of Mr. J. B. Rich, formerly at Cutler's Sea View at Hampton Beach. This is a most attractive inn, offering the best of food and service in attractive surroundings. Sure to be popular with motorists this season. Bear left, through North Pembroke. End of street. Turn left at fork; old house ahead; bear right on South street.

0.0 Plymouth P. O. on left. Go south downgrade—at fork bear right on Monument road, leaving trolley. Monument on left. Straight ahead. Cedarville. Bear right on gravel—at fork, small pond on right. Bear left—Bournedale—three corners, opposite yellow house, turn right—north end of Bourne bridge (turn left for Bourne and points on the south shore of the Cape.)

Just before reaching Bourne you will come to Bournehurst — the Cape's famous new dance hall—more like an Aladdin's Palace built in the sands. Even though you may not care to dance you will want to see the superlatively beautiful hall, or perhaps you will want to attend the movies connected with Bournehurst. This forms an ideal objective for the night before the holiday dance or for a Saturday night, and is just a nice drive from Boston.

21.3 Buzzard's Bay—At station.

TO PROVINCETOWN.

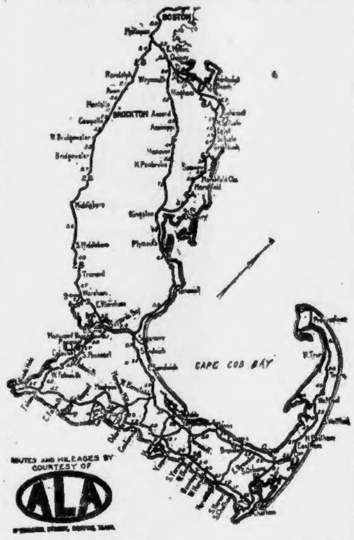
3.4 Sagamore—End of road at cemetery turn left avoid extreme left. Sandwich, a stop at the Daniel Webster Inn for the night for lunch or dinner will be worth your while. End of road at town hall turn left at fork, sign Barnstable. Keep right next fork bear left with red bands. East Sandwich—Cross railroad at station. West Barnstable at brick church straight ahead. Barnstable—Three corners straight ahead up grade. Cummaquid, post office on left, straight ahead. Yarmouthport—Here is the Yarmouth Tavern, open all year round where you will receive a warm welcome and enjoy every minute of your stay. Post office on right straight ahead.

If you are fond of dancing, you will not want to go on without trying this excellent floor. Wellfleet at Town Hall straight ahead to school on right, turn right South Truro, straight ahead Truro. At North Truro is the Highland House and cottages managed by E. Hayes Small, which is now open. It is a wonderful place and the golf links—well just plan to play them once. Library on right, straight ahead to North Truro to four corners, straight ahead upgrade to Provincetown.

ROUTE OF CAPE TOUR TO PROVINCETOWN



ROUTES AND MILEAGES BY COURTESY OF ALA

66.9 Provincetown. Here you will find the Bryant and Atlantic Houses, both of which are conveniently located and afford reasonable and good accommodations and meals. At the Atlantic House you may if you wish, get a fine lobster dinner at a reasonable rate. I am glad to heartily recommend both of these houses.

Side Trips on Way Back to Boston

Chatham to Hyannis—18.7.

Passing the Mill Hill Dance Pavilion where you may spend a most enjoyable evening.

An excellent orchestra and a fine floor, and especially convenient, await if you are stopping over in Hyannis. The Hyannis Inn, under the management of Mr. Wm. Cox deserves the popularity it enjoys with tourists and the Knights of the Grip. Mr. Cox runs a modern house, serves food of the very highest quality, and will make it his personal affair to see that you are taken care of royally. The Bay View Inn, under the management of Joseph Murphy, formerly chef of The Wianno Club will be very popular.

'DEATH' RAY TO BE SOLD TO FRENCH FIRM

Inventor Matthews Rejects the British Air Ministry's Proposal for Another Test

London, May 27.—H. Grindell Matthews has rejected the air ministry's proposals with regard to his "diabolical ray" and will leave for France by airplane today to clinch an agreement with the French firm with which he is already negotiated.

The government proposals, according to statements in the newspapers, were that Mr. Matthews abstain from negotiations elsewhere for a fortnight, during which the government would prepare another test of the discovery, paying the inventor 1,000 pounds for expenses in connection therewith. This suggestion he rejected as absurd. The test yesterday was behind locked doors.

Meanwhile similar discoveries are being announced and, according to the Daily Chronicle, the air ministry already is in possession of a "death-dealing ray which gives remarkable results" as the outcome of experiments by a well known expert at the Royal Aircraft Factory, Farnborough.

Copenhagen, May 27.—The claim of H. Grindell Matthews in connection with his "diabolical ray" are ridiculed in a statement by A. J. Roberts, former liaison officer with the British and submarine forces, who claims to have co-operated with Matthews after the war in vibration experiments.

Roberts says that he himself is "able to stop a motorcycle by the so-called 'death ray,' which has nothing to do with electricity, but is a system of light and sound vibration."

"I used it successfully in exploding mines and bombs in submarine warfare," he adds. "It is, however, impossible to destroy magazines, zeppelins or airplanes unless they are previously made receptive for the vibration rays."

Roberts has promised a public demonstration of the ray on a motor car here Friday.

POLAND SENDS SHARP REPLY TO RUSSIA

Declares the Soviet Protest Against Treatment of the Ukrainians Is Unwarranted

Moscow, May 27 (A.P.).—Poland has sent a strongly worded reply to the note from Former Minister Tchitcherin of Soviet Russia complaining of alleged violation by Poland of Article VII. of the Treaty of Riga, providing for settlement of the question of minorities. The Soviet note demanded better treatment of the Ukrainians and the White Ruthenians in Polish territory.

The Polish reply says this government considers the Russian note as unwarranted interference in Poland's internal affairs.

It expresses surprise that Russia should accuse Poland of denying religious rights to minorities, while Russia itself withholds such religious and general freedom to the various nationalities. It considers it a breach of international custom for Russia to criticize the expressions of State officials such as the speech of the Polish President regarding the relations between the two countries.

The reply further declares that such unjustifiable protests by Russia will in the future remain unanswered by Poland.

BOY REENACTS KILLING OF GIRL

room handcuffed to Sheriff Wescott.

While police for the present have placed robbery as the motive for the crime they are not yet satisfied with the confession of young McDonald, which did not explain certain details in the case.

CALMLY TELLS OF CRIME.

McDonald's confession came after intermittent grilling by police over a period of several days. He did not break down but simply turned to the officers and said:

The cigarette was given the youth. He lit it, and with his legs dangling from the edge of a table where he seated himself, he plunged into the details of his crime.

"I took the old man's shotgun out, last Wednesday night about 6 o'clock. I thought I'd go down to the cross roads. I wasn't doin' anything in particular.

AIMED AT HEAD.

"Then I sees Miss Gerrish coming down the road. She just walked out of the Williams house and I jumped into the bushes along the side of the road. I cocked the shotgun. When she got right across from where I was hid I aimed the gun at her head and pulled the trigger.

"My aim wasn't as good as I thought. The shot went into her below her neck. Then I walked out into the road where she was laying. She was dead, alright. I didn't bother to look if anybody was coming along. I just laid down my gun and grabbed her under the arms. Put my arms under hers. She was a heavy load but I dragged her in the brush and over where there was a tree. Her feet were dragging along after me as I pulled her along.

PROPPED UNDER TREE.

"Then I propped her up under a tree and went home because it was near supper time. I put the gun away and didn't tell anyone at the house about it. I hung around the house till bedtime and then went to bed.

"The next morning I didn't go to school. I went away from the house about 10 o'clock. I knew I'd have to do something with that body, so I went up to the Air-line road where a team was working fixing the street. When the fellow on the wagon wasn't looking, I grabbed a long handled shovel and went back where I had left the body.

"She was still there, allright, so I grabbed her by the ankles and dragged her into the woods, further. I hurried because I was afraid someone would see me.

"She's a pretty big girl and I had to work hard to pull her along. Her head left a funny mark in the ground as I dragged her along through the grass. When I got tired and couldn't drag her any more I started to dig the grave.

"It wasn't much of a job and I had her covered over with dirt after a little while. Then I thought we might as well keep the shovel at home, so I went back home with it.

DIDN'T TELL ANYONE.

"By that time there was a lot of talking about the school teacher not showing up. I knew where she was, all right, but I didn't tell anybody and I went along with the crowds that were hunting for her. I stayed out all day and I was right there by the grave that evening when they found her body. Then I went down to the post office. After a while the sheriff talked to me about the murder, but I didn't tell him anything about it."

The youth tossed the cigarette butt away and asked for another smoke.

He seemed bored with the whole performance.

REENACTS CRIME

"Sure I'll go with you and show you just how I did it," he replied in answer to a question by Detective James R. Wood, who is in charge of the investigation.

Automobiles were procured and the youth, accompanied by the officials, went over the entire ground. The boy's re-enactment of the crime did not vary in any detail from his first story of the crime.

"Why did I murder her? I dunno— I just saw her coming along the road and decided to shoot her. That's all there was to it."

This was all the authorities were able to get from the boy as to his motive for the murder.

"Naw, I never hated her. She was like all other teachers, but I didn't hate her," he replied in answer to another question.

WATCH IN BOY'S HOME.

After the boy had calmly accompanied the authorities over the scene of the crime, he was asked what had been done with the watch, rings and $40 he took from the body of his victim.

"O, that watch is right at home," the boy replied.

He accompanied the detectives to the McDonald home and under a sill of the kitchen door, the watch was found. The money and the rings have not yet been recovered. The letters which the girl carried when she was shot down are also missing.

After the re-enactment of the crime the boy was hustled back to the Ellsworth jail.

By this time, news of the confession was spreading like wildfire throughout the countryside. Groups of citizens gathered in the streets near the jail. On all sides was heard threats expressed against the young slayer.

BOY GUARDED.

The Hancock county authorities do not fear any outbreak of violence against the prisoner. The country is to sparsely settled—there are no leaders to take charge of an attempt at violence. But, neverthe less, no chances are being taken and the lad is being carefully guarded.

Shortly after his return to the jail, the youthful slayer asked for his supper. He ate a hearty meal and seemed unworried by any of the details of his recital which has shocked all of New England.

Victor MacDonald, the younger brother, is being held in another part of the jail. The authorities believe that the younger boy has valuable information which will play an important part at the trial of the confessed murderer.

The authorities are ready to subject the youth to another severe grilling.

The authorities are not satisfied that the youth has told everything. There are some unprintable details which made the crime particularly heinous which the lad has not dwelt upon.

While no motive for the crime has been definitely established, it is believed that MacDonald is a degenerate with a lust for blood.

Near his home it is said that he frequently would kill small animals —his pets—in the most brutal and revolting manner.

The boy is the oldest of ten children of Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert MacDonald. He has always been a backward student in school and was the oldest youth in his class. This was responsible for his occasional chastisement by the hands of the teacher he murdered, but it is not believed to constitute a sufficient motive for the murder.

With his lust for blood and the emotions that were excited in him with the sheer joy of killing, it is believed that he saw the teacher walking along the road and his strange passions suddenly becoming aroused, he shot the teacher without giving much thought to the matter.

ARGUE ON KLAN HEAD AS MAYFIELD WITNESS

Washington, May 27.—Resuming its Mayfield election contest hearing, the Senate election sub-committee today heard a long argument as to whether Edward Young Clarke, one of the organizers of the Ku Klux Klan was a competent witness because of his conviction of a felony in Texas last March.

Counsel agreed that under the laws of Texas Clarke would not be a competent witness in the Texas State courts, but there was disagreement as to whether his testimony would be admissible in Federal courts.

GIRL TELLS OF LOVE SWINDLE PARTY

By EARL L. SHAUB

New York, May 27.—[illegible] With [illegible] Imogene Wilson [illegible] Ziegfeld [illegible] at her attempted [illegible]

Imogene's mind was rather hazy as she attempted to put together the broken ends of her story and arrange them into a semblance of what had occurred. Others present at the Suicide Party appeared to be just as befuddled as to the for Imogene for the reason as one of the guests put it: "We were not quite ourselves."

At any rate Imogene was quite sure it all came about because she had parted last week with a well known comedian, the two agreeing never to see each other again. As she told of the parting, which ended in a fist fight, she said:

"But we parted friends and he returned to his wife. I will not see him any more, but, heavens, how I love that man."

Then came the "Suicide Party," staged with all the bluff and tinsel of a Follies act. A dozen actors and actresses were present, a jazz band played a funeral dirge, one of the guests turned his collar, announcing he was "Rev. Thompson," another placed a lily in Imogene's hand, and she settled back to let the poison do its worst.

By this time the doctor had arrived. His investigation failed to find any traces of poison but, instead, only sugar coated pills. The man who sold them had suspected her design and turned the suicide part from a tragedy to a farce comedy.

wear the Fade-away Brassiere

Almost Immediately Fullness of Bust, Back and Diaphragm Seems to Disappear

THAT is the magic of this new rubber reducing brassiere. A brassiere that immediately molds the figure to the smooth, slender lines of fashion. But it does more—for every minute you wear it it is scientifically massaging away the thousands of tiny fat cells that cause these disfiguring accumulations of flesh.

It's amazing how quickly it reduces, and how different from dieting! Haven't you tried and tried to diet, giving up all the things you like most, trying to resist those tempting dishes that you just love and frequently having to explain that you're trying to diet? Usually you decide nothing is worth such denial, and exercising seems futile because it makes you so hungry.

It's always been so hard to reduce until now

Now you simply wear this dainty Fade-away reducing brassiere, comfortably shaped to mold and reduce the figure right where you wish.

The Fade-away hooks in back like any other brassiere

Made of flesh tinted rubber with ribbon shoulder straps as dainty as you could wish. But so different from ordinary brassieres, for this not only achieves immediately the smooth lines that fashion and good taste dictate, but it actually begins to massage away the unsightly flesh from the very first moment you put it on.

The Fade-away Brassiere Fitted at the Shepard Stores

Experts in the art of fitting rubber reducing garments will explain to you the scientific method of reducing which makes the Fade-away Brassiere so successful in reducing the figure to the lines everyone admires.

Fade-away Brassieres are made in sizes 34, 3[illegible], 38, 40, 42, [illegible] 48 and 5[illegible], [illegible]

Poor Scores to Open Golf Title Tourney

By NICK FLATLEY.

W[illegible] Country Club, May 27.—[illegible] was the rule in the [illegible] of the qualifying test [illegible]

[illegible] ers who passed the turn made the nine holes in better than forty strokes.

This was due mostly to the some[illegible] conditions of the [illegible] and a mean East wind which [illegible] after the first few couples had marched from the initial tee. It was due, also, to the fact that none of the big stars was mixed up in the daylight starting.

The big boys, somehow or other, always manage to land places that guarantee them a good night's slumber. The first really famous couple [illegible] had Cyril Walker, pro from Englewood, N. J., and Jesse Guilford of Woodland, open champion [illegible] swatting [illegible]

The big match of the day was that with Walter Hagen, former open champ, and Willie Ogg, the local club pro, who holds the record for course, 63.

Hagen went around yesterday in two strokes above that, when he [illegible] had nothing to make him hustle. Walter is right on his game, and nothing but dire misfortune will keep him away from another title a mighty close run to it.

Johnny Farrell, Quaker Ridge, played the first nine in 35, while most of the players were taking 40 strokes and more. Farrell's card read 2 [illegible] 2 4 4 4 2 4—35.

ERRORS PROVE FATAL TO EAGLE

Moralists missed a fine opportunity to seize upon a suitable Sunday sermon topic by not attending the Boston College-Georgetown baseball game at Alumni Field yesterday. The moral we'll point out later; but the bad news first. Boston College lost by a score of 7 to 3.

The Eagle nine, with Ed Mullowney in the box, played an intelligent game for eight innings. Students were counting over and over again that dollar bill they intended to place on the B. C.-Holy Cross game Friday so well did the Maroon and Gold team play.

Mullowney was holding his own with Jenkins, Georgetown hurling ace. Tommy Phillips, playing his first game behind the bat [illegible] days, was doing wonderfully well. The entire team was on its toes.

When the ninth inning finally rolled around [illegible] themselves [illegible] Georgetown had knotted [illegible] The score was then 3 to 2 in favor of the Eagle.

CALIFORNIANS FIRST TO ARRIVE FOR '4A' MEET

The University of California, three-time winner of the I. C. A. A. A. A. championships in the Stadium, made its fourth consecutive invasion in the Harvard Stadium at Cambridge yesterday afternoon.

The arrival of the nation's most noted aggregation of athletes was unheralded. Not until late yesterday morning did Manager Bickford, manager of the Harvard track team, know that the Californian team had arrived. The team was not scheduled to arrive until tomorrow.

Two and a half pounds of flesh and bone deprived the sensational Johnny Sheppard of Woburn of the world's bantamweight championship when he outpointed Abe Attell Goldstein, world's bantamweight champion, in a furious ten round battle at the Suffolk A. A.'s show at Mechanics Building. [illegible]

PANEL LAYOUT FOR 6-TUBE SET SHOWN

Designed for Metal Panel, but May Be Used With Bakelite

We have with us today the panel layout for the Baby Giant Superheterodyne.

The layout given is the plan used in the construction of the panels which are sold all drilled in the complete kits for the construction of this set as made by the Como Apparatus Company.

For those who desire to drill their own panels, however, this plan will greatly assist. Either metal or bakelite hard rubber, etc., may be used. If metal is used, it is connected to the ground and one side of the filament.

The panel as shown is designed to be drilled in a single piece for both front and bottom. The full size is 12x16¼ inches. This is bent the long way four inches from one end.

If two panels are drilled, one for front and the other for sub panel, remember that the front panel as shown is inverted, because of this bend. This makes the holes for the vernier knobs at the upper part of the drawing when they are actually at the lower part in the finished receiver.

Tomorrow we will tell how to wire the various parts, giving a step-by-step description of the actual procedure that should be followed.

Answers to Queries

1—How many turns of No. 28 d.c.c. wire for spider web type coils for Superflex? 2—Is 60 turns too much for a .00025 mfd. variable condenser? 3—[illegible] F. S. L.

Primaries are 5¾ and 20. Secondaries must be tried out, as the inductance of a spider web depends on the form used. 2—No. 3—Instructions for spider web similar to those for cylindrical coil. If the start [illegible] to the [illegible] secondary [illegible]

I have a 4 tube Super which works like a charm up to 390 meters, but no higher. Am using .00025 mfd. condensers [illegible] WNAC on 14-15. A. H. A.

May be a defective condenser. The dial readings you mention are approximately correct. Try ten more turns on each secondary.

I have built an American Super using a [illegible] antenna. I find that [illegible] 484 meters [illegible] WNAC [illegible] The [illegible] dials are the same for each station. H. W. R.

You do not give the dial reading for 484 meters. If it is at the top of the dial (maximum condenser capacity.) There should be more turns on the secondary of the coils. WD11's will never give the volume of UV201A's. If you must use dry cells 199's seem to give the best results.

Can you give me detail of how to get distance on a Radiola V? Is there any disturbance to having the ground wire running out with the leadin wire to the arrester as per diagram? RUBY.

Largely a matter of getting the knack of tuning. Ground and antenna lead-in wires should not be close together, as this will reduce signal strength and volume.

1—What station signs off by playing, "My Old Kentucky Home," on bells? 2.—I have a three-tube set which brings in the local stations loud until a click is heard, then the volume is lost. S. H. R.

1.—WHAS, Louisville. 2.—Probably a loose connection.

I have a four-tube Super. I have picked up WCAD, KDKA, WGY, WGI, WJAR, WNAC, WBZ, WBAP, WSAD, WJAR, WEAT, WSAD, WPAB, KOP, and WDAR. My antenna is 40 feet high and 75 feet long. I get WTAT on 18-24, WNAC on 34-42, and WGY on 88-100. I get no high wave stations. P. S. R.

Your dial reading indicate variable condensers are too small, not enough windings on secondary, or secondary windings are shorted. WNAC should come in about ten on each dial.

OFFSET KNOCKS, WATCH GRID LEAK

Grid leaks cause more experimenting and are blamed for more faults than almost any other part of a radio set. Most hard tubes are not extremely critical on the leak, a variation of a megohm or a megohm and a half making no great difference. If you think the leak is not right, listen for a steady knocking or ticking noise, which will show the leak is not of the proper value. Try putting a finger on the grid binding post of the tube while listening to a station. If touching the post makes the signals louder it shows too high a resistance in the leak, the extra leakage through your finger making the signal stronger.

SILENT SEASON MYTH ON ITS LAST LEGS

Investigators Trace Cause to Business Depression 2 Years Ago

By THE RADIATOR

Why should radio be a seasonable affair like the "flu" or the Winter coal bill?

It seems to be the accepted custom to shut up the shop and go fishing at this time of year. But why?

A survey recently completed by the Electrical Research Laboratories of Chicago may furnish a clue to the causes of this phenomenon.

Two years ago a hard Summer followed a particularly soft Winter. Many a manufacturer sighs at the memory of that glorious period when a brace of staticsifters, euphemistically called headphones, brought an unquestioning $15, and a wooden variometer was considered cheap at $7.

THOUGHT IT MYTH

Along about Spring the great mass of radio pioneers had become convinced that radio was a myth. But why go on? The story of that fearful Summer is written in records of the bankruptcy courts of every part of the United States.

Radio revived because it changed. The gyps are always with us. But their numbers are decreasing as it has become possible for a fan to buy standard parts with fair assurance that they will work.

The elementary telephone circuits are fairly well understood by a majority of amateurs, and the sounds that come over the radio are quite similar to those sent out by the broadcasting station. Prospects for continuous popularity should be good, but in the background is the memory of that terrible Summer.

BOBIES VANISH

Application of the reflex principle to radio sets with dry battery tubes has made possible the construction of efficient receivers, all contained in cabinets a foot long or less, that will operate a loud speaker on a trip.

A summer evening certainly is no less enjoyable for a radio concert and a radio set more than once has been known to take the curse off a Summer resort vacation.

As for static, most of it disappeared with the wooden variometer and its rough-looking cousins. Insulating crackles in radio sets went out of style with switch arms and taps, and Mexico City sounds just as bad in Summer as it does in Winter.

USE LONG WIRES ON CONNECTIONS

Do not use a great number of small short pieces of wire to connect from instrument to instrument in your set, with frequent [illegible] junctions.

Take a long strip of bus bar or plain copper wire and start at one instrument, put the wire through the binding post, run it to the next instrument and through the binding post, and so on.

You can sometimes run half way around the set with one strand of [illegible], with no breaks, good contacts, and the minimum of soldering.

This will reduce the resistance of the wiring in your set and save the annoyance of broken soldered connections.

NIGHTLY DINNER MUSIC FROM WEAF

A nightly feature to be added to the programs from WEAF, beginning [illegible] [illegible] station [illegible] New York Federation of Churches and the Synagogue service by the United Synagogues of America, which begin at 7 p. m., is the broadcasting of the Waldorf Astoria Concert Orchestra under the direction of Joseph Knecht.

WGY FANS FAVOR CLASSICAL MUSIC

Kolen Hager, announcer at WGY, declared recently:

"It may surprise many to know that we have five times as many requests for classical music and old American songs as we have for popular, present-day music. The general opinion seems to be that popular dance music is the all desirable thing, but according to the requests we receive it is the reverse. I believe that this is a fair judgment."

BARITONE ON AMERICAN PROGRAM

Angelo Boschetti on Program With Boston American Orchestra at WNAC

Angelo Boschetti, noted [illegible], will be one of the features [illegible] concert this evening of the Boston American Philharmonic Orchestra [illegible] WNAC [illegible]

Mr. Boschetti has selected a program which harmonizes with the "popular" classical music which has distinguished the programs of the Boston American orchestras. This is music which represents the best work of the great composers, but which pleases both the music student and the music lover.

Harold R. Hall

Harold R. Hall, a member of the Boston American staff, will speak on "Thrills of a Reporter." These are not the kind of thrills that concern possible loss of life or limb, but the thrills that come from getting a big story and "scooping the town."

ANGELO BOSCHETTI

DX TESTS SHOW SHORT WAVES BEST

The transatlantic trials held by WGY in the earlier part of April were heard perfectly in France by M. Yvonnet at Thibie, M. Tabuteau at Royan, David at Couterne, Boury and Pitchereau at Angers and Coulon at Saint-Michel. All say that reception was much easier at 105 meters than at 300 meters. On the shorter wave neither are nor damped wave disturbance caused any trouble, although the transmission was marred by slight fading.

TRY OUT NEW SET FOR WEEK AT LEAST

It is well to remember that a test of a radio set covering only one night is mighty poor. At least a week of listening, covering varying varities of weather, temperature and static conditions, is advisable before either accepting or condemning a set.

A given set may bring in plenty of DX one night and only get locals the next, due to differences in the weather and other factors.

FRENCH CELESTE IS ADDED AT WLW

A French celeste has been added to the musical equipment of WLW, in Cincinnati. Its bell-like tones record through the microphone with perfect [illegible] [illegible] the compositions played [illegible] with [illegible] and a pedal for [illegible] The little felt hammers strike upon steel bars below the middle C to three octaves above.

TINFOIL LEAD-IN SAVES BORING

Two pieces of tinfoil about six inches square, one shellaced on the inside and the other on the outside of a window, will make a good way to bring the lead-in into the house without necessity of drilling a hole in the window frame. The lead-in is fastened to the outside strip and a separate piece of wire is fastened from the inside strip to the aerial post on the set.

By Ann Lisle

Ann Lisle

"I'LL never forget," I said [illegible] to cover the [illegible] had betrayed me [illegible]

[illegible] should I [illegible] telegraph me instead of telephoning unless he wanted to avoid speaking to me?

A day at Hoadley Manor is a thing to look forward to [illegible] But I was half [illegible] my dreaming when a sudden sense of oppression began to [illegible] me. "Oh, Aunt May, I don't know what you'll think of me. But after you telephoned I [illegible] a point of it. I just [illegible] forgot the coffee cake for your company tea tonight."

Before Aunt May could reply, Uncle Max, who can't bear to have any one feel remiss about anything, croaked out joyfully:

"Never mind, child, we don't need any coffee cake. No one's coming to tea but Howard and cook baked the biggest batch of cakes and cookies I've ever seen. I went out to the pantry this morning and the shelves were literally groaning with goodies."

Price Changes Are Mixed in Wall Street With Rails Strongest Group

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Here is encouraging news.

National advertisers are spending 20 per cent. more this year than last year. They are spending $375,000,000 against $300,000,000 in 1923.

Experience has shown that each dollar spent on national advertising represents $100 of sales.

That means, therefore, a business of $37,500,000,000 elicited by national advertising.

Do these facts suggest that progressive business concerns are downhearted?

* * *

These totals are based on information I have just obtained from James O'Shaughnessy, secretary of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, whose members handle about 80 per cent. of all the better class of national advertising in the country.

Local advertising has for several years followed the fluctuations—the "curve," as the experts call it—of national advertising, and the indications are that it is doing so this year.

* * *

After quoting the figures covering this year's and last year's appropriations handled by members, Mr. O'Shaughnessy made this comment:

"This is a significant volume because it is sales virtually assured by the fact of advertising. Sales of advertised products are sufficiently forced to be dependably expected.

"Now that advertising has been put back of so large a percentage of the commerce of the country there is less opportunity for commercial depression.

"Nationally advertised goods are produced and sold more economically and more certainly at a profit and more likely to sell again as consumption requires.

"It is seen, therefore, that in forecasting the business conditions of this country the advertised parts of business is so important that it must be taken into account."

* * *

Advertising and commercial success almost always go hand in hand in these modern days.

When I was a boy, in Scotland, the only shoe polish we knew anything about was Day & Martin's. It was advertised everywhere. Every country store carried it. The firm did a huge business and made an enormous amount of money.

Alas, last year came this cable dispatch from London:

"Day & Martin, the famous shoe polish firm, are selling out because, as the managing director says, 'we didn't keep up our advertising.'

"It was with their blacking that Sam Eller polished Mr. Pickwick's boots at the Whiteheart Hotel. Dickens' partiality for the firm arose out of his aversion to a rival firm. In his early days he had to paste labels on their pots of polish and he received so small a wage that he never forgave his employers.

"References to Day & Martin's polish are to be found in the works of Carlyle, George Eliot, Tom Hood and Bret Harte.

"In former years the company advertised as extensively, perhaps, as any other concern in the country."

* * *

From Homer J. Buckley, the noted advertising authority, of Chicago, I recently obtained this illuminating record:

"A group of retail stores in Chicago conducted a test of the turnover of a widely advertised product in comparison with one only slightly advertised. This test covered a period of nine months and its purpose was to establish the consumer's preference, with the sales clerks maintaining an absolutely neutral attitude.

"The articles chosen for the test were Aunt Jemima's pancake flour, which is heavily advertised, and three other brands of pancake flour, which are slightly advertised. All brands were given equal prominence on the store shelves. They were placed side by side, so far as the stores themselves were concerned, no one brand was pushed beyond another in any manner. The clerks simply waited for the customers to indicate their preference and then tabulated the results. Here they are for the group of stores covering the nine months' period:

	Cases Sold	P. C.
Aunt Jemima Flour	765	72½
Slightly Advertised No. 1	158	15
Slightly Advertised No. 2	75	7½
Slightly Advertised No. 3	50	5

* * *

Since advertising begets business, is it not inspiring to know that far more advertising is being done this year than ever before?

* * *

Look at this clear cut picture of how advertising increases sales; the figures come from the Fuller Brush Company:

	Advertising Appropriation	Volume of Business
1914	$ 2,500	$ 250,900
1915	4,000	290,200
1916	5,000	412,900
1917	6,000	806,000
1918	8,000	992,700
1919	18,000	2,401,200
1920	55,900	4,301,300
1921	218,800	6,376,600
1922	434,900	11,463,400

So long as advertising increases in this country is not likely to go to the dogs.

TELEPHONE AT FRESH HIGH FOR MOVE

Price changes were mixed with railroads the strongest group in transactions today on the New York Stock Exchange. American Telephone sold at a fresh high on the move at 127.

In the afternoon there were point or more setbacks for Chicago & Northwestern, Woolen, both St. Pauls, General Electric, General Asphalt, Gulf States, Great Northern pfd., Mack, N. Y. Yellow Cab, Northern Pacific, both Pan-Americans, Punta, American Sugar, Tobacco Products, Stewart-Warner and U. S. Rubber.

Pittsburgh & W. Va., National Enameling and American Water Works rose a point to more than 2.

Prices drifted throughout the morning, major operations being confined principally to relatively inactive shares. The stiffening of money rates after their recent ease, however, promoted increased offerings of Baldwin, American Can and the leading steel shares, which influenced renewed selling in other sections of the list. Reaction of St. Paul Railroad issues to the unfavorable April earnings brought a further decline in the common to the year's lowest level. Call money opened at 4 per cent.

In Boston Stock Exchange trading American Telephone rights at 3⅝ were at a new high. Point or more recessions showed for Sugar, Fisk Rubber 1st pfd. and Massachusetts Gas, the last named at a new low. United Fruit yielded 2. American Woolen pfd. added 1⅛.

TRADE HELD UP BY WEATHER

Hardware Age in its weekly review of market conditions will say tomorrow:

Conditions in the various hardware centres throughout the country have changed but little during the past week. Weather still seems to be the determining factor in all jobbing centres.

The backward Spring has held up consumer demand for articles which ordinarily would now be moving rapidly. This in turn has naturally had its effect upon the buying of the retail trade. It is noteworthy that whenever a few clear days occur that sales increase with startling rapidity.

Generally speaking, retail stocks are low. The retailers, however, are only buying in hand-to-mouth fashion. Jobbers are well supplied with merchandise and are in a position to fill almost any orders in remarkably short time. The same holds true with respect to manufacturers' deliveries.

The manufacturers have the stock on hand and are well able to take care of orders. Railroad service has also improved to a degree where it is possible to fill them rapidly. Price changes are about on a par with the previous week.

BOSTON & MAINE IN RED INK AGAIN

Boston & Maine Railroad reports for April a deficit of $3,046 after interest charges and rentals, comparing with a surplus of $273,444 in March and a deficit of $62,581 in April, 1923. For four months ended April 30 there was a deficit of $265,391 after charges, comparing with a deficit of $4,632,471 in the first four months of 1923.

MONTPELIER GETS BRATTLEBORO BONDS

Brattleboro, Vt., has awarded $175,000 4¼ per cent. school bonds, dated May 1, and payable 1926 to 1941 inclusive, to National Life Insurance Co., of Montpelier, at 100.25. Other bidders were: E. H. Rollins & Sons, 100.07; Harris, Forbes & Co., 99.48; R. L. Day & Co., 99.199 and Merrill, Oldham & Co., 99.19.

COCA COLA FEARS PROVE GROUNDLESS

Speculative fears for the safety of the quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the common stock of Coca Cola Co. were dispelled today when the directors declared the regular rate in addition to the semi-annual dividend of $3.50 on the preferred, both payable July 1 to stock of record June 15.

MARKING MONEY UP PROVES A SURPRISE

Marking up of the call money rate from 3 to 4½ per cent. was a surprise in view of the vast surplus of funds revealed in the last weekly statement of the Federal Reserve Bank, which reported the highest combined federal reserve ratio in seven years. The only explanation heard for the sudden increase was an early withdrawal of interior funds in anticipation of month-end requirements.

GREAT NORTHERN declared semi-annual 2½ p. c. preferred dividend, payable Aug. 1, stock of record June 26.

BILL PROVIDES FOR REFUNDS ON 1923 TAXES

Washington, May 27.—Under the 1924 Tax Reduction bill sent to President Coolidge, perhaps the feature that will interest taxpayers most is the authorization of a 25 per cent. reduction on the taxes for income received in 1923 and payable during the current year.

If a taxpayer, who owes the Government $400, for instance, paid this tax in a lump sum on March 15, he will receive a refund from the Treasury, if the bill becomes law.

If he pays the tax in four installments of 100 each, and has paid $100 on March 15, he will deduct 25 per cent. of that payment and another 25 per cent. when his next instaiment comes due on June 15, thus paying at that time $50. On Sept. 15 he will pay $75 and on Dec. 15 another $75.

There are many other changes under the bill, the surtaxes, normal taxes, personal exemption, gift and estate taxes all being revised. In addition, many of the excise and miscellaneous taxes are either lowered or repealed.

Also, new clauses provide for certain inspection of tax details and for the creation of a board of tax appeals to which cases in dispute may be taken.

The surtax rates are reduced so as to begin at 1 per cent. on the net income from $10,000 to $14,000, and reach a maximum of 40 per cent. of the amount of the net income in excess of $500,000.

The existing law provides for surtaxes beginning at 1 per cent. upon the net income between $6,000 and $10,000, and reaching a maximum of 50 per cent. of the amount by which the net income exceeds $200,000.

Existing law provides a normal tax upon the first $4,000 of net income of 4 per cent. and upon the remainder of the net income of 8 per cent. The new bill provides for a normal tax rate of 2 per cent upon the first $4,000 of net income; 4 per cent upon the next $4,000 of net income, and 6 per cent upon the amount of net income in excess of $8,000.

Under the bill as passed single individuals are granted an exemption of $1,000 and heads of families $2,500. Under the present law there is an exemption for a head of family of $2,500 if the net income of the individual is less than $5,000 and of $2,000 if the net income of the individual is in excess of $5,000.

On the new earned income section, an individual is to be credited with 25 per cent of the amount of the tax which would be payable if his earned net income constituted his entire net income, but not in excess of $5,000.

On the new earned income section, an individual is to be credited with 25 per cent. of the amount of the tax which would be payable if his earned net income constituted his entire net income, but not in excess of 25 per cent of his normal tax.

Defined as wages, salaries, professional fees, and other amounts, earned income is considered as compensation for personal services actually rendered, including, in the case of a taxpayer engaged in a trade or business in which both personal services and capital are material income producing factors, a reasonable allowance as compensation for personal services, not in excess of 20 per cent. of the taxpayer's share of the net proceeds of the trade or business.

The first $5,000 of an income is always to be considered as earned. But no matter how large the income, no more than $10,000 of it shall be held to be earned.

The admission tax is changed so that the present tax of ten per cent. applies only on admissions of fifty cents and less.

The taxes imposed upon candy, knives, dirks, livery and hunting garments, and yachts, are repealed.

The taxes imposed upon carpets, trunks, valises, purses, lighting fixtures, and fans, are repealed.

A tax of ten per cent. is imposed upon sales by manufacturers of Mah-Jongg and similar tile sets.

The tax upon the sale of jewelry has been amended so that it will not apply to articles used for religious purposes or to articles sold for more than $30.

The surtaxes under the bill are as follows:

No surtaxes upon $10,000, but 1 per cent. on $10,000-$14,000.

$40 on $14,000, and 2 per cent. additional on $14,000-$16,000.

$80 on $16,000, and 3 per cent. additional on $16,000-$18,000.

$140 on $18,000, and 4 per cent. additional on $18,000-$20,000.

$220 on $20,0000, and 5 per cent. additional on $20,000-$22,000.

$320 on $22,000, and 6 per cent. additional on $22,000-$24,000.

The tax increases proportionately up to the amount of $500,000.

Coolidge to Grandma Europe—

"We Helped You Once, Help Yourself a Little for a Change. Stop 'Floundering.'" At Least He Ought to Say That

We love our dear British brothers and all our European brothers. We tried to prove it, lending them TEN THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS, when they were in trouble and sending over three million men to help them out.

But they all feel that we didn't do ENOUGH, in fact that it would be utterly impossible for us EVER to do enough.

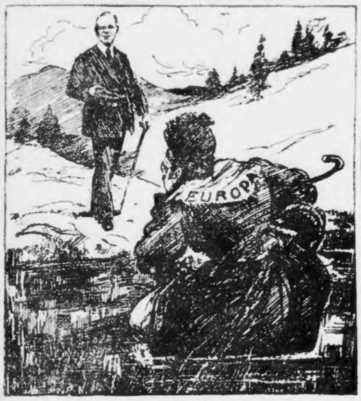
Just why they are all convinced that the United States was created to pay the war debts of Europe and lend Europe money, nobody knows. But that's what they think.

Here's a little picture from famous old British Punch. We reproduce it with the lines that Mr. Punch puts under it.



LAST AID

President Coolidge (to Europa): "AS SOON AS YOU HAVE EXTRICATED YOURSELF FROM THE MORASS IN WHICH YOU ARE NOW WALLOWING, I SHALL BE HAPPY, MADAM, TO SUMMON ASSISTANCE."

[The American President recently announced that "when a definite settlement of German reparations had been finally established" he would favor the calling of a new world-conference.]

The picture of President Coolidge isn't very good, his face looks like a combination of Billy Muldoon and General Dawes. But the meaning is clear.

The President is represented as a cold-blooded New Englander, lacking sympathy for an old lady stuck in the mud. Englishmen that see this picture, and conveniently forget the facts, as so many of us do in this world, are impressed by the great moral "truth" it teaches.

"Of course those Yankees are cold-blooded. They would let their own mother suffocate in thick mud rather than spend a dollar to get her out. After all, what is England, what is Europe, but the mother of the United States, or at least the grandmother? If Coolidge had a heart, would he refuse to pull his poor old grandmother out of the mud?"

Mr. Punch in this case doesn't see the picture quite clearly. The United States pulled his old grandmother out of the mud, ONCE. It was an expensive pull, the people of the United States are still paying for it. They have contributed ten billions already. And they are going to contribute more, indirectly, through the fact that some of the European bonds they bought will eventually be valuable chiefly as wallpaper—as Russian bonds are already. Mr. Punch probably wants to be accurate, but in this case he isn't. These are the lines that ought to be under this picture:

President Coolidge to Europe: "You may not know it but that mudhole in which you are floundering is labelled 'WAR AND HATRED.' I did my best to get you out and keep you out of that once. But the moment my back was turned you ran back to your mudhole again. You are fighting, threatening, hating each other. With the exception of England, the countries of Europe show not the slightest inclination to repay the billions lent by the United States. They prefer spending the money for more war, more soldiers, more weapons, dynamite, poison gas. France and England, so recently dear brothers, are now, as they had been for centuries suspicious of each other as neighbors.

"France has built a dominating fighting air fleet that frightens old Britannia and makes her wonder what she can do about it. There are signs of returning sanity in the atttitude of Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of England, and signs of hope in the French election that put out Poincare. But for the present we prefer to stay where we are, and observe and SYMPATHIZE ABUNDANTLY."

After all, old Europa is not up to her NECK in the war mud, as she was in 1914, when the United States devoted all its energies to helping her out.

Mr. Punch's own picture shows that the dear old lady can walk ashore if she wants to. She would rather not make the effort. She would rather have Mr. Coolidge, representing Uncle Sam, get his nice boots all muddy, walking in and pulling her out again.

But when you pull an old lady out of a mudhole at a cost of ten billions of dollars, and she immediately takes a long pull at her war flask and rushes back to the mudhole, you naturally say to her, "Come on out, let me see what you can do for yourself, THIS time."

And that's what Mr. Coolidge will say, for the United ...es, if he is as wise as he looks. This picture tells him how ...ope feels about the United States. No gratitude for anything done, no recognition of the fact that we sent ten thou... million dollars to help people that wouldn't, among them ...ave sent FORTY CENTS to help the United ...es in ...ar trouble.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

THE shingle bob is the "last word" in feminine defiance—and most men are glad that woman has GOT her "last word" and is through talking.

Helen Rowland

* * *

It's hard for a man to forget a woman's beauty nowadays—especially when she leaves most of it on his coat lapel.

* * *

A woman can please some men most of the time, and most men some of the time; but NO woman ever succeeded in pleasing ALL men any of the time—nor ANY man all of the time.

* * *

* * *

What a woman never can understand about a man is how he can enjoy kissing a girl he doesn't love, simply because he happens to be thinking of some girl that he does love.

* * *

An Oriental bridegroom doesn't know what his wife looks like until after the wedding; but, in these days of Nature fakers, an American bridegroom NEVER knows what his wife looks like—unless he happens to catch her with her make-up off.

* * *

"A man's work lasts from sun to sun"—but a woman's work follows her even to a dinner party, where she wonders between courses whether or not she forgot to turn off the water in the bathtub, if the children will get uncovered and who locked the cellar door.

* * *

Sometimes a wife feels that it would be easier to have a flapper steal her husband than to have them continually "borrowing" him, on all sides, the way they do.

* * *

Women and flowers! To a poet, something to make rhymes about; to a psychologist, something to study and dissect; to any man, something to take home and leave around the house.

* * *

Perhaps the reason so many of us are satisfied with imitation love is because real love, like real silver, requires so much more attention and energy to keep it bright and shining. But, ah, it's worth it!

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

BRAVE men sail out from shores of home across the misty deep, across the wastes of foam that never rest or sleep. Afar they go, adventuring to strange, unfriendly strands, where unknown seas their stories sing to savage, unknown lands. They go with gladness, unafraid, where none has trod before; still pressing onward, undismayed by ancient sailors' lore. Still farther, farther on they go to greet the gleam of dawn; beyond earth's outposts few men know, then farther, on and on! They spurn the placid haunts of peace, the paths they long have known, [illegible] that will not [illegible] other [illegible] they do not sail the tossing main or unknown islands roam. They seek not, half a world away, the joy of novel sights, the glimpse of magic fountain's spray, the lure of tropic nights. Yet still, adventuring they go in regions strange and new, where beauties like sweet flowers blow down every opening view. They search through thought's untrodden fields, men's hidden hopes and dreams; their quest an endless treasure yields, a store that glows and gleams. For these discoverers have found in quiet, inner deeps, a realm where faith and trust abound, love's endless river creeps. They seek no lands beyond their ken, no virgin soil or shore; their sphere the soul of fellowmen, earth's [illegible] noblest lore!

Widow With Seven

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a poor widow with seven children, three boys and four girls. The boys are 2, 4 and 5, and the girls are 3, 7, 10 and 15. Any kind of clothing will be appreciated, as I can make things over. I would like some black clothes, size 42, for myself, but anything will do. If anyone has any toys or doll carriage they do not need I will be very glad to have them for the children

MRS. L. L.

Sends $1

Editor Helping Hand:

Please find enclosed one dollar for Cinderella's mother. It isn't much, but it will help a little.

MISS M. M

Many thanks. We have forwarded the money to Cinderella's mother and are taking these means to think you as you gave no street address. Every bit does help.

Wife Needs Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am writing to thank you for the help I received for my one year old baby. I cannot tell you how much I appreciate the things I received, but I am going to make a second appeal, this time for myself. My husband has gotten into trouble and has been sent to a reformatory for fourteen months and the only help I get is from the city. They give me a grocery order and I am thankful for that. But I am desperately in need of all kinds of clothing, size 36, and shoes 4½ or 5.

MRS. R. C. F.

Offers Men's Socks

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a batch of men's socks, size 10, which have been worn, but can perhaps be used again by some other person. Will gladly send them anywhere. Does the lady who asked for white rags still want them? If so, please send me her address and I will send them to her.

F. A.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of Mrs. B. E. M., who has asked for stockings, any size, as she cleverly makes them over for her large family. We are also sending the address of Mrs. E. A. P., for which you asked.

Editor American:

We, the undersigned, want the public to know that recently there has been a lot of false publicity directed toward, the Vocational School and its instructors at No. 1010 Commonwealth avenue.

We, in the carpentry department of this school, are criticising those points owing to the fact that we are entirely satisfied with the training which we are receiving at the present time, which is due to the fact that we are getting the very best of practical training that can be obtained.

In the carpentry department we are 100 per cent efficiency. As to our instructor, we can say that we have the very best, and a man who is doing everything possible to advance his trainees to the point where they can go out and earn an honest living.

We are forwarding a petition of all the trainees in the carpentry department who have been benefited by the Vocational Training School as we want the public to know that it is also up to each trainee to do his part, and if he is interested in his work there is here a splendid opportunity to gain valuable experience.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON POLITICAL PARTIES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

UNFORTUNATELY, we cannot think freely. Each of our minds is impaired by tradition. The trouble is that we begin thinking by taking for granted a whole lot of things that are not true at all.

Most people in considering the question of politics accept as a matter of course the postulate that "political parties are necessary—you cannot run the government without them." I find it as difficult to talk politics with the average person as to talk religion. They all begin by assuming a lot of nonsense that we accept simply because it has been lying around for a thousand years or so, and people have been accepting it as true.

The political party is not necessary.

Not only so, but the political party is essentially both a foolish and an evil institution.

It is foolish because it is an endeavor to run government, which is every man's business, and the most important business in the world, not upon the basis of science or skill or intelligence or justice, but upon the principle of a cock fight.

The political party is the last runt of the litter to which the old sow idea, Competition, has given birth.

We believe in it because for years we have been trained to believe in its mother.

Some day, when the present generation is all dead and gone, and we have bred a crop of brains that know how to think straighter, we shall see the fallacy of competition among human beings, and learn that progress, profit and happiness can only be attained through co-operation.

The intelligent bystander can easily see that the root of all the Teapot Dome scandal and the U.S. Veteran Bureau scandal, and the other scandals that are rendering foetid the national atmosphere, is the political party.

The reason is that a political party exists practically for one purpose, namely: to get certain men into office.

I say practically, because while parties may begin with a considerable fanfare of principles, eventually the lines of moral and even mental demarkation are rubbed out, and the whole issue becomes "Do you want John Smith or Jim Brown for your Congressman?"

Therefore the political party is essentially based upon the graft idea. Everything in its operation tends to promote the conviction that a political office is a personal privilege and not a public trust.

The kind of man that naturally gets into a position of leadership in a political party is most unlovely.

The party is the agency through which crooked capital gets in to bribe the government.

The party is the handy means by which unscrupulous labor leaders drive Legislature into folly.

In fact, the party is a very handy burglar's jimmy for the crook and the blatherskite to break into the house of national government.

I have read carefully many books on party government; I have noticed party government in its actual workings; and I am familiar with the history of it. My honest conclusion is that the idea that it is necessary is one of those strong delusions which becloud the intelligence of the human race.

The founders of this republic did not contemplate government by party; the Constitution made no provision for any such thing. It has grown up. But everything that grows is not therefore wholesome. Weeds grow and poison ivy. Cancers grow. There is a noxious growth as well as wholesome growth.

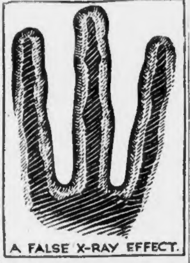
GARRETT P. SERVISS ON IMITATING X-RAY

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

MR. J. L. KELLOGG has called my attention to a very interesting phenomenon of interference of light which may be witnessed with no more complicated, or costly, an instrument than a small feather from the breast of a duck or a turkey.



A FALSE X-RAY EFFECT.

The feather is to be held close in front of the eye, while between it and a well-illuminated window, the hand is held up, at a distance of a couple of feet.

The effect is a quite startling imitation of a radiogram, made by an X-ray machine, showing the bones of the fingers enclosed in the semi-transparent flesh. The accompanying picture shows the appearance. It will be seen that, apparently as in a true radiogram, the irregularity of outline of the finger bones stands revealed, the greatest thickness of the seeming bones being at the joints.

The resemblance to a real X-ray shadow photograph is indeed so striking that some persons jump to the conclusion that somehow or other the feather actually plays the part of an X-ray, and wonder why so simple a method is not employed to save expense!

The fact is that the feather comes much nearer to behaving like the astronomer's interferometer, which measures the diameter of stars millions of millions of miles away, than it does to a real imitation of the variable penetration of the Roentgen rays through bodies opaque to light.

It is not the shadows of the finger bones that the feather reveals, but parallel bands, alternately bright and dark, produced by the passage of the light, that has grazed the opposite sides of the fingers, through the close network of the feather, which acts upon it like a diffraction grating, causing certain of the rays to be extinguished by interference and others to be enhanced by superposition.

If you hold the feather before a bright electric light you will see very beautiful spectra, with all the colors in their order from red to violet. Such a light may be used instead of window light to show the apparent X-ray effect, but for that purpose it should be enclosed in a ground-glass, or other light-diffusing globe. The fine, reticulated structure of the feather is itself worth studying with a strong magnifier.

As shown in our picture the outer sides of the misty-looking fingers are bordered with dark bands, less decided than the central spines, and not colored like the latter. There is no appearance of shadows corresponding to the bones of the hand, because the angular breadth of the hand is too great; but if some other person holds his hand for you at a distance a yard or so, the hand shows a triangular shadow in the center, while apparently the wrist bone comes into plain view.

For obtaining the best effect the experimenter should place himself in a dark part of the room, and if the light from only one window enters, so much the better. In a sense, this is merely playing with a toy, yet how instructive such playing may be when some of the most recondite laws of nature enter into the game. Nature is the best of playfellows.
